Bridge is shaping up

Highway department officials are hoping for completion of the Interstate 155 Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville by late 1976. All steel work will be completed this summer. The gap in the superstructure shown here is on the Tennessee side and should be closed six to eight weeks after work resumes in May or June.

Senate passes trespassing bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Senate approved today and returned to the House a proposed anti-trespassing law.

The bill, approved 19-12, contains an amendment saying property owners can't be held accountable for their actions in preventing trespassing on their property.

Sen. Edward Linehan, D-St. Louis, saying he would "tresspass" on the bill and try to kill it, said the clause could be interpreted to mean that a property owner could shoot a trespasser.

If the House accepts the amendment, the bill goes to the governor.

The bill applies to boats, planes, cars and buildings that are posted with no-trespassing signs and any property with a fence around it.

In a Thursday night session, the Senate approved a bill saying stores cannot deny credit to women.

The House had approved the bill but it was sent to a conference committee to correct technical flaws. The Senate accepted the conference report and the House was expected to follow suit.

The measure, "piggybacked" onto a Senate bill making changes in definitions in the retail sales credit law, was similar to one far down on the Senate calendar.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Sue Shear, D-Clayton, and Sne. Albert Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau.

It forbids denial of credit based on sex or marital status.

Debated but left without action was a bill eliminating the $500 exemption on used car trade-ins for collection of sales taxes.

Several senators objected because it would cost the state money and no estimate was provided.

The measure, put on the informal calendar for further study, would have this effect:

At present, if a person gets $400 on his car in buying one valued at $3,000, he pays sales taxes on the full $3,000 price. If he received $500 for his car, he would pay taxes only on the difference of $2,500. The same is true for trade-ins valued at more than $500.

Under the proposed change, he still would pay taxes on the difference regardless of how much his trade-in is worth. If he bought a car worth $3,000 and got $400 on his trade-in, he would pay taxes only on $2,600.

Earlier, the dispute between State Mental Health Director Harold Robb and the Missouri Senate was lessened as the chairman of the Mental Health Committee agreed to seek an emergency appropriation to partially compensate Robb for money losses he says will force him to dismiss employes.

Other amendments would exempt farm and domestic worker employers with payrolls of less than $2,500 a year and eliminate a committee of the legislature provided in the House bill to study workman's compensation and make recommendations for its improvement.

Psychologist appointed to test Buddy Williams

BENTON -- A psychologist was appointed in Circuit Court Thursday to examine the mental capacity of James "Buddy" Williams of Holland during a hearing on a motion to suppress evidence in connection with his trial on 1961 charges of slaying a young couple and criminal assault of the young woman.

A motion by the state to consolidate all three of the charges against Williams into one charge for his third trial June 13 and 14 was taken under advisement. Two earlier convictions have been overturned.

The defense opposed the motion and requested three separate trial dates.

The 12- year- old rape-murder case is being heard by 32nd Judicial Circuit Judge Stanley A. Grimm of Cape Girardeau, who was appointed following the disqualification of three previous circuit judges--Marshall Craig of Sikeston, Rex Henson of Poplar Bluff and William Billings of Kennett- since Williams was granted a new trial.

Art Stephenson, Pemiscot County prosecuting attorney and Caruthersville attorney James A. Vickrey, the prosecutor at the time of the slayings, represented the state at Thursday's hearing.

In the two previous trials Williams first received a death sentence, then three life sentences. The third trial was granted by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1971.

Williams is charged with the Dec. 23, 1961 slaying of Miss Brenda Joyce Raines, 17, of Holland and her fiance, Frank Craig, 19, of Blytheville, Ark., and criminally assaulting Miss Raines.

The first trial was moved to Scott County on a change of venue and, on Oct. 2, 1962, a jury found Williams guilty of killing Miss Raines and sentenced him to death. However, because of an error in instructions to the jury, Williams was granted a second trial and received three life sentences after guilty pleas were entered on two charges of first- degree murder and one of criminal assault, Aug. 2, 1963.

In 1971, the Supreme Court granted Williams another trial on his petition that the guilty pleas entered during the second trial were not voluntary.

Called as witness for the defense during Thursday's hearing was former radio dispatcher Thomas Hooper Taylor of Caruthersville.

Taylor testified that he received the phone call at the sheriff's office the day the slayings were reported. Following the arrest, Taylor said Williams had been placed in his custody for a short time before he was taken into the interrogation room.

Mrs. Norma Jones, court reporter for the 32nd Judicial District, testified that she was the court reporter during the 1962 trial and identified the transcript as one she had typed.

Substructure work complete on bridge

All steel work on the Interstate 155 bridge over the Mississippi River near Caruthesville will be completed this summer, according to Lionel Murray, District 10 engineer for the State Highway Department.

Murray said he is still hoping the bridge can be completed by late 1976. He added the completion date depends on material shortages and the weather.

All of the substructure is completed, Murray said, and work on the last span of superstructure will resume in May or June when high water goes down.

The next step, he said, is letting of contracts for the concrete deck work.

The flood plain landfill washed out by high water last year has been repaired.

Other work to be done in Missouri includes completion of approaches and grading from the approaches to Route U and from Route U to Interstate 55.

All design work on the bridge has been finished, Murray said, and completion is now just "a matter of money and timing." By timing, he said he means the department wants all units of the construction from the bridge to the roads completed at the same time.

About 60 per cent of the bridge substructure is finished on the Interstate 57 bridge at Cairo, Ill., Murray said.

The steel superstructure is currently being fabricated, he added, and will later be shipped down the river from St. Louis for erection.

The I-57 bridge completion is expected in 1978.

Statutory rape case goes to Circuit Court

CHARLESTON — Michael Williams of Charleston, a former mathematics teacher at the junior high school, was bound over to Circuit Court Thursday following a preliminary hearing before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr. on a statutory rape charge.

Williams, who remains free under $2,500 bond, is charged with two counts of statutory rape involving a 14 - year - old Charleston girl, one of his former eighth grade students.

The girl and her mother were the only witnesses called by Pros. Atty. W. Clifton Banta Jr.

According to the girl's testimony, the first offense occurred Feb. 14 on the levee near Thompson Bend north of Charleston. She said she and Williams had talked earlier that day to plan where they could meet. She reportedly got into William's car about 3:30 p.m. at the corner of First and Cypress Streets in Charleston, and they drove to the levee, talked awhile and had sexual intercourse. She said the second incident occurred March 6 in the girl's home.

Under cross- examination, the girl testified she was in love with Williams and said she had been threatened by her father if she did not testify against Williams. The girl's mother testified she and her husband learned about the incident Feb. 14 when their daughter was late in coming home.

The girl reportedly arrived home about 8 p.m. Feb. 14 with her hair mussed, clothes in disarray and her mouth red and swollen. The mother said her daughter refused to tell them what had happened to her and that she (the mother) called their pastor, who came to their home and talked to the girl.

She told him what had occurred, but did not tell him who the person was, according to the mother, who said the learned the identity of the man from letters found in the girl's purse and composition notebook.

On cross- examination about whether the girl had been threatened by her father, the mother said her husband had said something to the girl but she refused to say what. She said at the time both she and her husband were in a highly emotional state and she could not remember all that went on.

Williams is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court May 14.

Drainage tax to be cut

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that it is lowering the 1974 drainage tax by approximately 50 per cent.

According to Presiding Judge Les Lankford, the court decided it would be able to cut the maintenance tax because the federal government has appropriated funds to clean out drainage ditches.

The taxes are reduced as follows:

Drainage District No. 2, reduced from $2.50 to $1.50; Drainage District No. 4, previously $4, now $2; Drainage District No. 5, formerly $3.50, lowered to $2; Drainage District No. 6, reduced from $3.50 to $2; Drainage District, No. 10, reduced from $6 to $3; Drainage District No. 12, previously $3, now $1.50; Drainage District No. 14, reduced from 75 cents to 50 cents; Drainage District No. 15, lowered from $4 to $2 and Drainage District No. 18, cut from $3 to $1.50.

Lankford said the court is also reducing the Johnson grass levy from two cents to one cent per $100 valuation.

"The court is doing this because Johnson grass is under control in Scott County," he remarked.

New liquor by the drink law may affect Sikeston

Sikeston residents may soon be able to buy liquor by the drink as a result of a new state law signed this week by Gov. Christopher Bond.

The new law allows resorts to sell liquor by the drink. Any motel which has 40 rooms and a restaurant that earns more than 60 per cent of its profit on food is defined as a "resort."

Also, a restaurant alone, which has grossed $100,000 on food each year for the past two years can get a retail liquor by the drink license. "Resorts" may also apply for Sunday liquor by the drink license.

Under the old law, the term "resort" applied only to establishments located near a lake with 250 miles of shoreline.

State Liquor Control Supervisor Michael Garrett said he expects many motels to "leap" for licenses under the new law.

Garrett said Missouri will receive added revenue from the sale of liquor by the drink and Sunday licenses. Local governments will also reap sales benefits, he said.

The resort licenses cost $300 a year from the state and a county can also charge $300. In addition, if the resort is in a city, the city can charge another $450.

For Sunday liquor licenses, the state must be paid $200 a year. Counties may charge the same sum. Cities can charge $300.

Under the new law, local options either for or against liquor by the drink do not apply to qualified resorts.

It was the loss of the right to local option that caused State Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston, to vote against the measure.

Sikeston now will have no control over whether or not motels in town serve liquor, Cline said. He said he assumes the Holiday Inn and El Capri motels meet the resort requirements.

The law will not take effect until 90 days have elapsed. Cline said he has heard rumors that the law will be tested in court. He said a number of legislators are upset because of the loss of local option.

A similar bill was passed last year, but Bond vetoed it, saying that as written it would make resorts subject to local option if the area were annexed by a city which banned liquor by the drink. If that happened, a large resort might have to shutdown its bar, the governor's legislative researchers said.

Chamber will break ground

An official groundbreaking ceremony for the new Chamber of Commerce building will be held sometime next week, president Jim Smith told Chamber of Commerce board members Thursday.

The new office building will be built on airport property at the intersection of Airport and Industrial drives.

Smith said some preliminary site work is already under way.

The 1,000 square- foot building is being built by Ryan construction Co. at a cost of $24,913.

The meeting was the first for Bill Welborn, whose appointment as the new chamber manager was announced Thursday.

Welborn, 29, is currently an industrial development specialist for the Bootheel Economic Development Council.

He will begin his duties on May 6.

Householder posts bond

NEW MADRID — Marshal O. E. Householder posted $1,000 bond Wednesday on a felonious assault charge and is scheduled to appear Monday for arraignment before Magistrate Leo Hedgepeth.

The charge against Householder stems from an altercation early Sunday morning with Alderman Ras Jones outside Rosie's Colonial Restaurant and Tavern.

Householder allegedly fired a pistol toward Jones, and the bullet grazed Jones' right hand and also struck Householder in the right leg.

Householder, who returned to duty Thursday, was given notice Monday to appear May 3 before the Board of Aldermen to show cause why he should not be removed from office, following a special board meeting in which Mayor Robert A. Riley recommended that the marshal be removed from office.

The 61- year - old police officer is completing 20 years as city marshal and was re-elected to a new two-year term without opposition in the April 2 city election.

Glueck seeks judge seat

ILLMO — Melvin Glueck, Route One, announces his candidacy for second district associate judge of the Scott County Court in the Aug. 6 Democratic primary election.

Glueck, who had previously filed for Kelso Township Democratic committeemen, withdrew his candidacy for that position Thursday and filed for judge.

Glueck believes that four years of previous experience as county judge and his experience in the Army Corps of Engineers qualifies him for the County Court positions.

In 1962 and again in 1964, Glueck was elected to the County Court. In 1966, he ran for circuit clerk but was defeated.

He has served as an elected member and appointed member of the Scott County University of Missouri Extension Council and was chairman of the council in 1973. Glueck was a member of the Scott County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for three and a half years and served as chairman for the last two years.

We are disappointed in our representative C. F. Cline on his vote for House Bill 1462 which will eliminate the unemployment compensation "waiting week." Representative Cline explained that the elimination of the waiting week could not cost any more money. The amount of time the unemployed are paid for would not change but would speed up the payment of the first unemployment check by one week.

After checking with the Employment Security Division, I found out that eliminating the waiting week could cost quite a bit to the employer. The Missouri Division of Employment Security acknowledged that the cost will approximate $4.5 million the first year.

When a person files for unemployment he will not receive the "first week's" check until he has been unemployed for nine consecutive weeks in a fiscal year. If he is unemployed for seven weeks, he can draw six weeks unemployment checks; if he is unemployed for eight weeks, he can draw seven weeks checks, up to nine weeks. After nine weeks, he will be eligible for the first "waiting week" check. If the unemployed person is hired for work before nine weeks, he will not receive the first "waiting week" check until he accumulates nine weeks unemployment in a fiscal year.

Elimination of the waiting week will not only be costly but will TAKE AWAY another incentive to stay employed. I've been asked why we have trouble getting industries in Sikeston, but if the bill becomes law we will have trouble in the State of Missouri. Industries will take a long look at the ADDED COST of unemployment due to the elimination of the waiting week.

Our lawmakers need to PROMOTE Missouri and what will help our state grow. Elimination of waiting week will NOT stimulate industry to choose Missouri over states that still have it. It is plain enough to see that if Missouri gets industry, say in particularly Sikeston, there will be more jobs for our unemployees. I can't but help wonder who will really benefit from the elimination of the "waiting week."

American motorists should know that a bill calling for a two- cent- a - gallon tax to help offset increases in the price of fuel has been filed in Congress.

It's not a bad idea. Maybe some state gas taxes ought to be reduced as well.

Practically everybody has been blaming the oil companies and their profits for the high price of gas. The fact is that federal and state taxes are roughly six times as large as oil company profits. Of every gallon sold here, the companies make about two cents, Uncle Sam gets four cents and the state tax is 7 cents.

WHAT'S THE HARM?

What's the harm in exposing our American college students to massive doses of leftist influences with no countering arguments?

How can it hurt to pay avowed Communist Angela Davis to speak to University of Missouri students?

Aren't our children much too intelligent to be swayed by this phony leftist propaganda? How could a few communist professors hurt? Why not have nearly all liberal professors?

Ask the Hearst family out in California.

The Hearsts now hear their daughter spouting the liberal-leftist violence of the SLA gang that kidnaped her and demanded millions of dollars in ransom.

The SLA demands for ransom have been well written, and investigators believe the hoodlum group includes some highly educationed leaders. (What's the harm of leftist influence in our educational system?)

Almost everyone wants to believe that Patricia Hearst was forced to make the tape recording in which she scorned her parents and vowed to join the SLA gang But reports of her association with liberal and leftist characters before her alleged abduction now cause many to wonder if she was in on the deal from the beginning.

Perhaps she had a gun held to her head when she made her hateful recordings, or maybe she was forced to take part in the recent bank robbery by her hoodlum captors. It is significant that many members of the SLA gang lived near and attended the University of California at Berkeley.

But the very existence of groups such as the SLA and other communist radicals should make Americans wonder about the influence of leftists in our colleges and universities.

But the very existence of groups such as the SLA and other communist radicals should make Americans wonder about the influence of leftists in our colleges and universities.

How long will the nation tolerate the constant "ripping off" of our society by radicals?

When Patricia Hearst was seized by the gang calling itself the SLA, the FBI agent in charge of the case said:

"I've never seen anything good come out of compromising with a bunch of hoodlums. I'm afraid that one demand may simply follow on another forever."

After the Hearsts gave away several million dollars in free food as ransom, the FBI agent's words appear to be prophetic.

But as every parent knows, logic and probabilities are of no use whatever to a family like the beleaguered Hearsts. The safety of their daughter took precedence over all other considerations.

Missourians and the nation suffer with the Hearsts in their ordeal.

Many of the poor people in whose name this dastardly crime supposedly was committed made it clear at the start that they would not take the food extorted from the Hearsts. The leader of a million member senior citizens' group asserted that the organization would never accept food under threat of violence.

But the promise of something for nothing drew many unprincipled people who willingly accepted the food brought with blood money. The first giveaway produced a riot. Many well dressed persons got out of their big cars and clamored to grab the estorted food.

The obvious purpose of this apparently well educated SLA group acting like a bunch of hoodlums was to gain public sympathy for themselves and to direct public hatred at the wealthy victims.

But they have failed miserably. Americans have watched in horror at the piteous sight of the love of parents being cruelly used against them.

And we still close our eyes to the constant anti- American and socialistic indoctrination by smug liberals and leftists going on each day in our nation's colleges and universities.

How many more SLA, SDS or other communist supported organizations and individuals are being created today?

What's the harm in allowing radical professors to go into prisons and tell the convicted criminals there that they are political prisoners?

When will university administrators and faculty members open their eyes to the end result of the radical ideas implanted into students by leftist professors?

Who is responsible for creating educational radicals who will help cause the violence, riots, bombings, kidnapings, murders and wars of tomorrow?

When will we ever learn?

WE NEED WATCHDOG COMMITTEE

The House Committee on Internal Security, a long- time bulwark against fascist and Communist subversion, is clearly threatened with extinction. While it has not been widely noticed, the Select Committee on Committees, chaired by Rep. Richard Bolling (D.-Mo.), has proposed the abolitionof the Internal Security Committee and the transfer of its jurisdiction, but not its responsibilities or staff, to the Government Operations Committee.

According to American Security Council's report, Bolling is trying for a full House vote in the next three weeks -- before opposition can be organized.

The anti- security lobby's efforts to abolish the House Internal Security Committee is led by the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation, which has for years advocated abolishment of HISC.

House Internal Security Committee Chairman Richard H. Ichord (D.-Mo.) testified before the Bolling Committee that "the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation was first established in 1960 under the name of the National Committee to Abolish HUAC for the purpose of leading and directing the campaign of the Communist Party U.S.A. to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities ... Today, it is a well- financed organization that maintains a full - time Washington lobbyist ... the Communist influence still prevails."

Congressman Bolling and three other members of his committee have consistently voted against funding HISC but have been overwhelmingly outvoted. For example, in March 1973, the vote was 289 to 101 to give the Internal Security Committee its small $475,000 budget.

So, in the name of streamlining the Congressional Committee structure, Bolling is now trying in a different way to abolish HISC. And, according to the word we get, Bolling has a good chance of succeeding with this ploy because he is doing it as an official committee action and in the name of efficiency of operation.

So, if the HISC is to be saved, we must act now -- to let our congressmen know we understand the real intent of the Bolling plan and that we oppose it.

Continuing the Internal Security Committee is more important now than ever ... because of the growing threat of terrorists in the U. S. demonstrated by the Symbionese Liberation Army's assassination of Dr. Marcus Foster, Oakland, Calif., school superintendent, and their policial kidnaping of Patricia Hearst. There are hundreds of interlocking terrorist organizations active in the free countries around the world but, until now, it has been a distant phenomenon which did not seem to threaten us inside the U. S.

A FLEET IN TIME

Part of the opposition to movement of petroleum from Alaska's North Slope to the warm water port of Valdez and thence to the South 48 rests on fear of tanker oil spills. As many as 30 large American- built, American - flag tankers would be required to transport the crude oil from Valdez to Seattle and California refineries. However, far from presenting a material hazard to the environment, as many imagine, these tankers would represent the ultimate in maritime technology. They would reflect the gathering momentum of the new U. S. shipbuilding program that began more than a year ago -- a program designed to rebuild the American Merchant Marine.

Tanker operators on whose shoulders would fall the responsibility of transporting Alaska's oil to the South 48 are keenly aware of the environmental obligation the task imposes upon them. A maritime industry leader, speaking to members of the Seattle Propeller Club, stressed that, "Both in the international forums of the United Nations and here at home the tanker industry is in the forefront of practical effective moves to assure safe and ecologically acceptable transport of critically- needed petroleum over the seas. It was the U. S. industry which supported updating of the international convention for the prevention of pollution of the seas by oil -- it was a leader in the agreement to regulate the maximum size of individual tanks on tankers and it has gone beyond all legal obligations to meet the cost of prompt and effective clean - up spills on the few occasions they have occurred."

The simple fact is that a rejuvenated merchant marine and tanker fleet is visible on the horizon at this very moment, and it is most needed. Such a tanker fleet would contribute strongly to the restoration of the U. S. as a leading maritime nation. We should be thankful if the new tanker fleet appears in time to move Alaska's oil to market and help reverse the growing deficit in domestically produced supplies of oil and gas required to meet expanding U. S. energy demand.

WIPE THE SLATE CLEAN

When the chips are down, the American family works just a bit harder, and maybe a bit longer, to attain its objectives.

We have just completed a year of crises in many areas. There are many challenges still facing us, but they can be solved through the application of one simple concept: work with confidence.

It is this ability to work which has helped us to be the breadbasket of the world. It has been the ability to discover and invent that has made the moon our newest frontier. It has been the ability to achieve, through the mass production, the conforts and conveniences of a modern society which has drastically reduced the number of our poor people.

It has been the desire to provide for our families to the best of our abilities that has triggered more inventions in this generation than the total of those developed since the world began.

As we look into 1974, let's be objective so that we may record new accomplishments together.

THE NEW FEDERAL BUDGET AND A BIGGER BUREAUCRACY

The greatest single component in the cost of government is payroll. The federal payroll will go up two billion dollars in a single year if the administration's fiscal year 1975 budget is approved as submitted to Congress.

The federal civilian payroll alone, exclusive of the U. S. Postal Service, now costs the taxpayer $32 billion per year and will rise to $34.2 billion if the administration's budget is approved. The total number of federal employees will rise from 1,874,417 in 1973 to 1,968,100 in 1975.

Nor is this by any means all of the payroll element in the cost of government. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), for example, which expects to spend the fantastic sum of $111 billion in fiscal year 1975, puts much of that money into private organizations which in turn use it to expand and boost their own payrolls. Other huge sums are handed over to the states under "matching funds" and "revenue sharing" programs, where most of the money goes to support payrolls there.

By the end of this year HEW expects to have a total payroll of 126,000, of which no less than 16,000 will be paid more than $20,000 per year. Under legislation recommended by the administration, some bureaucrats could be drawing no less than $44,700 a year of the taxpayer's money by 1976 with each one costing a lot more than his salary. PLAIN SPEAKING

WASHINGTON-- One of the most successful books of the year is "Plain Speaking," Merle Miller's interviews with Harry Truman when the former President was living in Independence, Mo. Mr. Truman was quite frank about his opinions of the people he knew when he was President.

It is quite possible that 20 years from now someone like Merle Miller might take his tape recorder to San Clemente and interview former President Nixon on his 81st birthday.

It could go something like this.

Q-- Mr. President, what do you consider was your greatest accomplishment when you were in the White House?

A-- I kept them from getting the tapes. They did everything they could but they never found them. Do you know where they were hidden?

Q-- No, sir.

A-- I had a pumpkin patch just behind the Rose Garden and I hid the tapes in the pumpkins. I got the idea from Alger Hiss. (laughter)

Q-- That was a great idea, Mr. President. Without the tapes, of course, they couldn't find any evidence to impeach you.

A-- You can say that again. To this day no one has been able to find them. You know the special prosecutor is still asking for them. Every week someone serves me a subpoena. But I've ignored them all. If I've said it once I've said it a hundred times, 22 years of Watergate is enough.

Q-- I noticed you were just served with a subpoena last week. What do you intend to do about it?

A-- James St. Clair is in the next room writing an answer to it.

Q-- Is he still working for you?

A-- Yup, he's getting a little deaf and his eyesight is not as good as it used to be, but he's still one heck of a lawyer. Anyone that can keep stringing along the House Judiciary Committee for two decades is my kind of man.

You see, the trick was never to say we wouldn't give them the tapes. The trick was to always say we were working on it, and we'd give them an answer in a few weeks. It's been going on since 1974 and here we are in 1994, and they still haven't go what they've asked for.

Q-- Next to keeping the House from getting the tapes, what do you consider your greatest accomplishment as President?

A-- Paying my back income taxes. I want to tell you that was some blow when they asked me for a half- million dollars. If I hadn't gone into the real estate business with Bebe Rebozo after I left the White House, I don't think I would ever have gotten even. But now that we've got the San Clemente Sun City for Senior Citizens and the Key Biscayne Singles Condominium Project, we're in fat city.

Q-- How would you assess the people who worked for you?

A-- They were the finest men I've ever known.

Naturally I was sorry to see so many of them go to jail. But when you're President of the United States you can't let personal emotions get involved in your decisions.

Q-- What did you think of Gerry Ford?

A-- I never trusted the man. He kept saying I should turn over all the evidence I had to the committee. You know something? I don't think he was as dumb as everyone said he was. He knew if I turned over the evidence he'd become President.

Q-- Mr. President, it's been 18 years now since you left office. Is there one thing you would have done differently?

A-- Yes. I would have advised George Allen of the Redskins to send Larry Brown off tackle, instead of having Billy Kilmer throw a pass to Charley Taylor in the Super Bowl.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Hoover Nixed Break- In Plan 'Because of Risk': Huston

WASHINGTON-- The secretive National Security Agency, which specializes in gathering foreign intelligence, once tried to get the late J. Edgar Hoover to break into foreign embassies to steal their spy codes.

This was too much for the intrepid old FBI director who vetoed the project, according to a top- secret summary, "because of risk."

The summary digests the testimony last year of Tom Charles Huston, a young White House aide, behind guarded doors of the Senate Armed Services Committee. The senators questioned Huston about his notorious plan, endorsed by President Nixon, to rout out radicals through housebreakings, wiretaps and intimidation.

Some of Hoover's top aides, testified Huston, had wanted him to use teen- age informers on college campuses. At first, Huston refused to employ anyone under 21. But "after the voting age was lowered to 18 by Congress," said Huston, "Hoover permitted FBI campus informers to be lowered to 18."

Hoover apparently felt anyone old enough to vote was old enough to spy.

Some of Hoover's aides were privately skeptical of the old crime fighter's grasp of revolutionary activities, Huston told the committee. He said the dissident FBI aides "believed Hoover didn't understand the difference between the Communists of the '30s and '40s and the present- day revolutionaries."

Huston testified that, before Hoover scotched the secret scheme, federal intelligence agencies plotted the housebreakings and other criminal acts without concern for "the exact lines to be drawn" or for "ther legality."

"There was never a discussion," he added, "as to limiting the activities to foreign inspired activities." In other words, relates the top- secret summary, Huston "assumed the group would deal with both foreign- inspired and purely domestic threats to national security."

A mysterious "NSID- 6" plan, mentioned in the summary, would have allowed federal agents to listen in on "communication of U. S. citizens using international facilities." This presumably means wiretaps would have been permitted on overseas phone calls.

There was talk, too, of mail covers to develop foreign intelligence in the United States. But Huston insisted this might "entail the identification of contacts of Soviet bloc intelligence sources." In other words, the mail cover might interfere with U. S. informants.

The idea of breaking into foreign embassies to steel their codes was proposed by the former National Security Agency boss, Adm. Noel Gaylor, who is now U. S. military commander in the Pacific.

"Huston said that NSA (Gaylor) wanted the FBI to conduct surreptitious entry for foreign cryptographic material," states the summary. "Hoover didn't because of risk."

FOOTNOTE: At the NSA, a spokesman declined comment. Huston, now practicing law in Indianapolis, also would not comment for the record.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Intelligence reports warn that Arab terrorists are plotting to kill or kidnap Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Kissinger and his new wife are guarded wherever they go by the Secret Service...Ex-Attorney General John Mitchell's tax returns show he is living on income from his former law firm, which removed his name from the door but is continuing to pay him. Mitchell, in turn, is paying the bills of his separated wife, Martha, including her telephone bills which run several hundred dollars a month...Watergate Sen. Edward Gurney, R- Fla., now on the receiving end of an investigation, will face a federal grand jury in Jacksonville, Fla., on May 13. The prosecutors will ask him to account for funds that were collected by his political organization. Unless he comes up with the right answers, the prosecutors are considering charging him with graft...

Of all the indicted Watergate defendants, the special prosecutors admit privately that their weakest case is against former White House aide Charles Colson. They debated up to the late minute whether to include him in the indictments...The Marriott hotel- restaurant chain, whose founder J. Willard Marriott ran both the 1968 and 1972 inaugurals for President Nixon, has removed some of the Nixon portraits from its hotels. The expensive pictures had been defaced with graffiti...

The House folding room, which is located in a poorly lit and ventilated basement called "The Hole" by workers, operates in gross violation of the Occupational Safety and Health Act which the Congress passed and expects commercial firms to obey...John Volpe, the U. S. ambassador to Rome, has written to President Nixon congratulating him on his choice of James St. Clair to defend him against impeachment charges. When Volpe was governor of Massachusetts, he said, St. Clair did a "brilliant" job directing a state investigation of police corruption.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Year of the Picket: See National Tidal Strike Wave Coming

WASHINGTON --Comes May 1, the rest of 1974 will be the year of the picket.

Billions of dollars worth of construction sites will be struck. One of the nation's few ultra specialists in this field has said that he wouldn't be surprised if the entire $133 billion (annual rate) construction industry were paralyzed, disemploying 3.5 million workers. Hospitals will be hit. City services will be strike -bound as in San Francisco and garbage -laden Cleveland. Strike fever will spread across the coal mines, the petro -chemical and oil plants, aerospace factories and even local steel mills.

By midnight April 30, some 1,500 of the 4,300 construction industry contracts reopening in 1974 will have expires. Already construction strikes are flaring in regions where they haven't for decades.

By May the major sections of the ladies' and men's garment industries will be embroiled in heavy wage bargaining.

It all may get out of control because virtually every insider believes the nation will be out from under wage and price controls and the Cost of Living Council's (COLC) power to ceiling rents, health and construction costs. Only control of petroleum prices and supplies are guaranteed under the Federal Energy Office, to which much of the COLC staff is shifting.

At the moment, as a jittery election -year Congress begins post -Easter sitting, only a handful of men on the Hill are fighting for continued wage -price controls which die automatically midnight April 30. Fighting hard for some kind of continued controls under what he calls the Cost of Living Act of 1974 is Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie. But as Maine goes, this time the rest of the country will not.

Seemingly everyone else is opposed to any semblance of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1973. It was the AFL —CIO's legislative director, Andy Biemiller, easily one of the two or three most powerful congressional lobbyists, who got on the phone recently and told key Congressmen the labor movement absolutely is opposed to any new controls, of any kind, of any hint, of any sort.

But there is the politicians's instinct for survival. When many Congressmen, as least those who didn't go world junketing, got home for Easter they found the hottest issue in town was not Watergate but inflation. Prices. Cost of living. Thus the dilemma's two horns. Can they go home to campaign eventually without having done anything about price controls? On the other hand, how can they vote for price controls without voting for wage controls? And if they do nothing but clamp down on prices, the producrers will sell fertilizer, for example, abroad making it scarce here at home and thus hotting up prices even faster.

The sad record shows that price controls in the past year simply opened the U.S. to heavy purchases by such nations as the Soviet Union which mines its own gold and can pay higher prices directly or through a broker for just what we need at home --agricultural products, fertilizer, chemicals, plastics, copper and minerals. This was only part of the "the whole thing."

But with prices higher, labor's rank and file will push its leaders harder. The latter respond to their constituencies. They'll push, too. Corporations and city and state governments will try to hold the line, then take strikes, crumble and then raise prices to match wages. How much more wages? Anywhere from 10 to 20 per cent a year.

For example, watch the militant bearded Leon Davis, leader of the national hospital workers union. He will begin moving in New York City in mid -May. He'll pull his famed Local 1199 members out of the city's major hospitals (and things always get rough) on or about July 1.

All hospital workers everywhere will be watching. The health "industry" costs will skyrocket. Hospital rooms will zoom from $150 to $212 a day semi -private and $200 a day private to $400 in a short time. Yes, daily.

So such presidential advisers as John Dunlop (who can have the chairmanship of the Council of Economic Advisers if he wishes) want a special health industry control bill. And one in construction as well. Otherwise, say they, there will be an "explosion."

Tuth the White House still has some game plans. President Nixon, according to one of his advisers, says, "There will be some cost of living controls hangover and it doesn't have to be done by legislation. Could be by presidential decrees and there could be a loud -voiced monitoring council."

And there always is the power to control allocation of fuels and materials. That's muscle. The White House may use it if Congress doesn't. The play of prices is the thing from now on. Price of food and price of labor, too. That's where the pickets come marching out.

Part I-Keeping your child safe

Old medicines, cleaning fluids are killers

By JUDY STRICKLIN

Is your medicine chest child-proof? If not, then maybe these safety tips can help alert you to the dangers of drugs and their all too often fatal results on children -- especially children too young to know the dangers certain bottles contain.

Also, remember that materials such as cleaning fluids, weed killers, polishes and others are killers.

Little ones tend to taste and touch the things they encounter and that's how many of them are hurt ... and the statistics grow every year.

Help yourself and your child ... know your toxic materials and what to do if a child should inhale the fumes or swallow the liquids.

Be sure toxic products are properly packaged and labeled. Ask the pharmacist to carefully label the drug so that, if an emergency should occur, the doctor will know what antidote or other measures are necessary to help a child.

Begin by cleaning out the medicine chest and getting rid of partially used or outdated medicines. Keep the rest out of the reach of children. This means to keep the medicine cabinet locked and away from fixtures, such as bathtubs, etc., upon which a child could stand and reach the containers.

Check under cabinets and in sheds for cleaning fluids, paints, thinners, etc., which are also potential killers. Move them to safe places, preferably locked. With summer fast approaching, the sooner this is done, the better. You never know when a son or daughter of toddler size may decide "to explore."

Don't let children play with empty packages or bottles. They might also believe it is all right to handle the containers when full.

Never leave medications on bedtables, kitchen tables or other places, even if it is being taken regularly several times per day.

Read all prescriptions and be careful not to exceed the dosage prescribed.

Let children know that medicine is medicine and that it is not a game to take pills. Never coax them into taking medication by saying it is candy.

Store medicine in the package or bottle in which it comes. Never pour medicine into another container where it could be misjudged by either a child or adult. When poison of any kind is taken internally, time is the most important element in saving a life.

Keep poisons out of reach

Karen Evans, daughter of Carolyn Evans of Sikeston, shows how easily small children can get into cabinets, proving that dangerous cleaning fluids and other poisons should not be stored in unlocked areas accessible to children. (Daily Standard photo)

Cheerleading clinics again scheduled for area schools

The Missouri State High School Activities Association will again sponsor a series of six, one- day, cheerleader clinics for member schools June 10-15.

The schedule of sessions is as follows:

June 10 -- Independence, Truman High School; June 11 -- Macon High School; June 12-- Rolla High School; June 13 -- Springfield Parkview High School; June 14 -- Jackson High School; and June 15 -- Ladue, Horton Watkins High School.

The clinics will feature Greg Brimhall and Jeff Newman of the National Cheerleader Association as the instructors. Brimhall and Newman are both experienced instructors having taught at clinics the past three years all across the country. Newman is currently the head cheerleader at University of Texas in Austin, Tex., and Brimhall has held the same position at Utah State University in Provo, Utah. Both were also cheerleaders on the high school level.

The program for each session will include a lecture on the responsibilities of cheerleaders, their role in crowd control and crowd psychology, facets of effective cheerleading and methods of developing spectator interest and sportsmanship.

Time will also be devoted to the mass teaching of demonstrations of new stunts, special yells and chants, the teaching of when to cheer and when not to cheer and some novelty yells.

Last year 1,534 cheerleaders from across the state attended the six clinics. The largest clinic was at Springfield Parkview where 525 cheerleaders participated. Jack W. Miles, assistant secretary of the MSHSAA, serves as coordinator for the clinics in Missouri.

FARM WOMEN VOTE FOR JOBS

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's farm women appear to be joining their city sisters in wanting equality and the erasure of the "traditional role" of women.

According to a poll by Prairie Farmer, a leading rural magazine, farm women in Illinois and Indiana are two to one in favor of women taking any job they can handle. The ratio is three to one among women under 40 with some college training.

Better than three-quarters of the farm women polled felt their husbands should help out in the house at least occasionally. However, slightly less than three-quarters of the men actually did. Age was not a factor here. Young and old alike thought their husbands should pitch in.

In a separate poll, about one-third of the women questioned answered "no" when asked whether they would vote for a qualified female presidential candidate. Among farm women with some college, about one-quarter voted "no."

WHAT YOU WANT IS WHAT WE GOT.

Drunken parents exhaust children

Dear Ann Landers: Last night my husband and I were jarred out of a sound sleep by a ringing telephone at 2:00 a.m. It was his mother, drunk, as usual. She mumbled, "Your father got mad at me while we were having a few drinks at Harry's bar and he left me here. The S.O.B. took the car and I'm stuck with the bar bill and no way to get home. Come and get me."

Of course, my husband got out of bed, dressed and went over to Harry's and bailed out his drunken mother. This is the third time in three months she has pulled something like this.

We have sent them literature from the National Council on Alcoholism. We've begged them to go to AA. We've had our family doctor talk to them. Two years ago we sacrificed our vacation and sent them to a dry- out spa. Nothing works. They refuse to stick with any kind of counseling. "It's too much trouble."

If you can think of a way to get through to these two boozers, we'd be very grateful. Everything we've tried has added up to zero. We'll do anything you say.-- Exhausted Children

Dear Ex: If I knew of a magic formula to cure alcoholsim, I'd be the most valuable person in the world.

There are nine million alcoholics in the United States and several million more who masquerade under the fancy title of "social drinkers." Psychiatrists are not enthusiastic about taking on alcoholic patients because they are extremeley difficult to treat. Religion has not had much success with them either. Hospitalization is very costly and usually the boozer is back on the sauce after he returns to the real world and must cope with the problems that bug him.

Alcoholics Anonymous still has the best record for arresting alcoholism. But the alcoholic must WANT to join. If he is dragged there it will do no good. Nobody listens until he is ready. So just hang in there and hope your parents will become so sick of themselves they'll seek the help they so desperately need.

Dear Ann Landers: Speaking of smelling like a goat (as your column did recently), can you please tell us what to do about a person in our office who smells worse?

This enormous hulk doesn't take one bath a month. Every area she lumbers into reeks for half an hour after she leaves.

The woman has the disposition of a wounded elk and no friends. I feel sorry for her and would like to be pleasant, but I gag when I get within three feet of her. If we happen to get into the same elevator it ruins my day.

I've heard several sickening jokes about this person, but actually, it's not funny. It's tragic. Please suggest something.-- N.N.

Dear N.: This is not an uncommon problem; from your description, however, it's more severe than most of the complaints I get along these lines.

The woman is more than just "lazy." She's got a geranium in her cranium. People who have this problem often do not realize that they are asphyxiating their fellow men. The best approach is to gather your courage and speak to her in a compassionate and gentle manner. Explain that you are her friend and want to help. If this doesn't do it, she needs a psychiatrist and should be told.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious-- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Caring for your new baby

Adjusting to foods takes time

XII. After the First Weeks— Part 6

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of 18 articles prepared by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to describe some of the things about normal babies that commonly worry parents and what to do or not to do about them. The articles should answer many questions about what to expect of a new baby and give simple instructions about solving problems that most parents face during their baby's first year of life. This section of the series concerns the development of your child after the first few weeks when he is visibly growing every day, developing a few rudimentary language skills and becoming more mobile).

Feeding

Your baby doesn't really need any food except your breast milk or his formula until he is at least six months old. But you may want to get him used to different tastes, textures and temperatures of food before he is that old. Whenever you decide to start "solids" or spoon- foods, there are a few rules that will help you.

Start slowly. A few spoonfuls once or twice a day is plenty. His main nutrition still comes from milk, and the spoon- foods, water and juice are really just ways that you and he play with each other and teach each other.

Try just one new food at a time, and feed it every day for several days. Start with simple, pure foods. Use lamb, not meat dinner; rice cereal, not mixed cereal; applesauce, not fruit dessert. New foods will sometimes cause vomiting, diarrhea, or a skin rash.

By starting only one new food every four or five days and by using simple foods you will know which one is to blame. Once he has eaten a food for three or four days and it hasn't disagreed with him, you can use it any time in the future without worrying.

Don't spend much money on expensive baby foods. There is nothing special about foods that are sold as baby food except that they are finely strained. Regular adult applesauce, mashed potatoes, ground meat, etc., are just as good and often much less expensive, as are the "junior foods."

The ready- cooked infant cereals are much easier to prepare and they contain iron and vitamins that are not found in adult cereals.

Up to about six months, all your baby's needs may have been met by your nursing or by his formula. After six months, he should get part of his nourishment from other foods. Don't give him more than 25- 30 oz. of formula a day. Let him fill up on other foods. You can cut his milk down to 16 ounces a day if more seems to spoil his appetite for other foods or if he seems to prefer other foods.

The best way to be sure that his diet is nutritious is to be sure it contains a wide variety of foods. In any two-day period he should have several servings of food from each of the following groups:

Milk, cheese, cottage cheese, ice cream

Fruit and vegetables-- at least one serving of dark green vegetables

Meat, fish, poultry, eggs

Bread, crackers, cereal, rice, spaghetti

Butter, margarine, cream (whole or condensed milk)

Candy, cookies, sugar, sweet desserts and soft drinks are all right for occasional treats. But they have little food value, they are bad for his teeth and they spoil his appetite for more nutritious foods. Use them only occasionally or forget about them altogether.

You can tell if a food is not being digested properly if it comes through in his bowel movements. If it does, chop it finer or use other foods.

When you feed him table foods-- foods that you prepare for the entire family-- be sure they don't contain chunks of stringly material he can choke on (no peanuts or raisins; watch out for strings in celery and green beans).

Encourage him to feed himself "finger foods" such as crackers, bits of bread or toast, or bits of cheese or meat. He will enjoy using his fingers and you will be able to let him feed himself.

Let him try drinking from a cup by the time he is five or six months old. Just a little bit in the bottom of the cup at first, then increase the amount as he learns to drink more skillfully. Encourage him to hold the cup and the bottle as you feed him; the sooner he learns, the less you will have to help him later on.

Let him help you handle the spoon when you are feeding him. If you sit behind him as you feed him, he can hold onto the spoon or your hand and learn the movements he will use to feed himself. It may slow you down and make some mess, but he will learn to feed himself sooner.

By the time he is nine or 10 months old, he will be able to eat most of the things you cook for the rest of the family. You will still have to mash up some of the vegetables and cut the meat fine.

Bedesk your secretary with flowers this week

It's National Secretaries Week. Time to thank her for the work she does the rest of the year.

With a fresh, live arrangement. Or a plant. Or a popular new body flower or a corsage. (Tell her it's for courage and dedication beyond the call of duty.)

And your florist can help. Just call.

JAMAICA TOURISTS GO RAFTING

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP) — Rafting is one of the most popular visitor attractions in Jamaica. The first rafting site in Port Antonio was such a success that another site was opened on the North Coast, at Martha Brae near Falmouth, a 30-minute drive east of Montego Bay. The one-hour trip on a 30-foot bamboo raft is under the supervision of the Jamaica Tourist Board and the rafts are piloted by skilled, licensed raft captains.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, April 26, the 116th day of 1974. There are 249 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1607, Captain John Smith landed at Cape Henry, Va., with the first group of colonists who would establish a permanent English settlement in America.

On this date—

In 1783, 7,000 Tories sailed from New York for Nova Scotia.

In 1785, the American naturalist and artist, John James Audubon, was born in Haiti.

In 1865, Abraham Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was captured on a farm near Port Royal, Va.

In 1925, Paul von Hindenburg was elected president of Germany.

In 1945, in World War II, Bremen, Germany, fell to British forces.

In 1964, the African nations of Tanganyika and Zanzibar merged to form the country of Tanzania.

Ten years ago ... the commander of the United Nations peace force on Cyprus was stoned by Turkish Cypriot crowds in the capital of Nicosia.

Five years ago ... troops of the National Guard and state troopers halted a march in Charleston, S.C., by blacks demonstrating in suppport of striking hospital workers.

One year ago ... former White House official Jeb Stuart Magruder resigned as Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

Today's birthdays: Entertainer Carol Burnett is 40 years old. Publisher Cass Canfield is 77.

Thought for today: I pity the man who wants a coat so cheap that the man or woman who produces the cloth shall starve in the process—Benjamin Harrison, British-born writer and publisher, 1673-1716.

10-year old admits whipping Malden toddler

MALDEN — A 10 - year - old boy, who was left in charge of a group of children ranging in age from one- and- a- half - years old to nine years old, has acknowledged he whipped a Malden toddler who later died in a Memphis, Tenn., hospital with a brain concussion.

The youth's name was not revealed, however, Assistant Juvenile officer Melvin (Churn) Williams said Thursday the child is enrolled in special education classes in Malden and was hired to babysit with the five young children of two Malden Negro mothers while they went to Neelyville Sunday for about six hours.

Mrs. Vernice Jones, 24, mother of the young victim, Terry Dernell Jones, who would have been three in June, and Mrs. Catherine Reed, 26, reside together at 205 East Peck St. in Malden where the baby sustained the injuries which later proved to be fatal.

Williams said he was planning to meet with the young babysitter's father and aunt Thursday and hoped to talk with the two mothers later in the day. He could not be reached for comment today.

The young babysitter told Williams that he had whipped the baby with a belt and later put the baby in a tubful of cold water in order to revive him after the toddler fell during the spanking and hit his head on a door facing.

Williams' investigation has revealed that a 24 - year - old Negro man from Caruthersville was present in the house trailer at the time the youngster was whipping the baby but apparently did nothing to stop the youngster. Williams said the older man reportedly told the youngster to "quit it," but took no action to stop it.

Williams said no decision would be reached on how to handle the case until a full investigation is made and all persons involved are questioned. William's report will be forwarded to Judge Flake McHaney, who will make the decision.

NFL adopts tie breaker

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with increasing criticism that its game had become dull, the National Football League has struck back with the the most sweeping set of rule changes for professional football in 40 years.

"It's an exciting package," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, unveiling the changes that are designed to open up offenses and reduce the ever-increasing roll field goals have played in the pro game recently.

Besides introducing a 15-minute sudden death overtime period to settle ties, the NFL moved the goal posts to the end line, meaning that field goal kickers will have to boot those three-pointers 10 yards farther than they have been. Also, missed field goals will return the ball to the line of scrimmage or 20-yard line, whichever is farther from the goal line.

Other changes also were adopted to protect wide receivers from the downfield battering they have been exposed to recently, reducing the penalty for offensive holding, tripping and illegal use of hands from 15 yards to 10 yards, and making illegal the dangerous crack back blocks that have caused many injuries.

Not since 1933 when the league moved to allow forward passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage have such widespread alterations been made in the sport. That was the same year the goal posts were moved from the back of the end zone to the goal line to encourage field goal kicking.

"But in those days, guys weren't kicking 55-yard field goals," noted Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL.

Field goal kickers reacted predictably. They are less than thrilled with the changes.

"These changes are going to make the game even more conservative than it is now," said Miami's Garo Yepremian. "Moving the goal posts to the back of the end zone is one of the worst rules they could possibly have put in. Coaches will send in their punter instead of trying the long field goals and all we will have are punters booming the ball through the end zone."

Red Devils win 11th

MORLEY--- The Chaffee Red Devils won their 11th straight game of the season Thursday afternoon defeating the Scott Central Braves 8- 3.

Jay McGuire was the winning pitcher for the Red Devils with seven strike outs, allowing five walks and two hits. Gary Peet was given the loss for the Braves.

Chaffee opened up the game with two runs in the first inning and added another four in the second.

The Red Devils scored their fifth run in the top of the third. The Braves scored their first runs in the third inning crossing the plate twice.

Scott Central was the only team to score in the fourth. The fifth inning remained scoreless and Chaffee ended the afternoon with one run in the sixth.

David McConnell and Lindy Duncan recorded the only extra base hits for Chaffee. McConnell had a fifth inning double and a single in the first that accounted for two RBIs. Duncan knocked in two men in the second inning with a double and connected for another double in the third.

Gregory had the only extra base hit for the Braves with a double in the third.

Chaffee will put its perfect record on the line tomorrow as the Red Devils host the highly regarded Notre Dame Bulldogs.

Taylor belts pair of HR's

LILBOURN--- Tony Taylor belted two home runs to lead the Lilbourn Panthers to a 13- 11 win over the Charleston Blue Jays Thursday afternoon in extra innings.

Charleston took a 2- 1 lead in the first inning and each team added another run in the second frame of the eight inning ball game.

The Panthers gained the lead in the third scoring three runs to Charleston's one. The fourth inning was scoreless for both teams and Lilbourn was the only team to score in the fifth with one run.

Charleston scored one run in the top of the sixth only to have the Panthers cross the plate for two runs in the bottom half of that frame.

The Blue Jays tied the game in the seventh scoring three runs and holding the Panthers scoreless in that inning. Charleston took the lead in the top of the eighth with two runs but Lilbourn added four runs to their score for the win.

The Panther's Jimmy Reed was credited with the win and Bailey was charged with the loss for the Blue Jays.

Taylor connected for his home runs in the second eighth innings.

Billy Rodman punched another home run for the Panthers in the eighth with two men on base.

Smoot had the only extra base hit for the Blue Jays with a double.

Aaron hits 718th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The only records Hank Aaron is breaking these days belong to ... Hank Aaron.

"I don't want to start on records again; that record business is over with," baseball's all-time home run king said after clouting No. 718 with a man on base in the seventh inning Thursday night, lifting the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

That was one of six games on a light schedule. Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 1-0, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Montreal Expos 8-2 and the New York Mets downed the San Diego Padres 5-2.

In the only American League contests, the Texas Rangers blanked the Boston Red Sox 4-0 and the Kansas City Royals beat the New York Yankees 61.

Despite Aaron's protests, there may be more records in sight. His game-winning homer was his 3,517th career hit and he has a shot at second-place Stan Musial's 3,630. It also was his 2,143rd run batted in, second only to Babe Ruth's — remember him? — 2,209.

Aaron's blast came on the first pitch from Jerry Reuss after Darrell Evans drew a leadoff walk. It was a 400-foot drive over the left field fence near the spot where he belted his record-breaking 715th homer on April 8.

Dodgers 1, Phillies 0

Unbeaten Tommy John, staked to a first-inning run, hurled a four-hitter and became the majors' first five-game winner and the first Los Angeles pitcher ever to win five games in the month of April.

Giants 8, Expos 2

Dave Kingman slammed a pair of two-run homers in support of Mike Caldwell's five-hitter, the first complete game by a San Francisco pitcher this year.

Mets 5, Padres 2

Felix Millan slapped a tiebreaking single in the ninth inning and John Milner delivered two insurance runs with a bases-loaded single. Winning pitcher Jerry Koosman — who allowed two unearned runs, scattered seven hits and struck out 11 — started the uprising with an infield hit off Bill Greif.

The victory snapped the Mets' three-game losing streak. They had dropped 10 of their previous 11 games.

Rangers 4, Red Sox 0

Jim Bibby fired a four-hitter and Dave Nelson, Alex Johnson and Jeff Burroughs broke up a tight pitching duel with runscoring singles in the fifth inning off Luis Tiant. By winning, the amazing Rangers opened a one-game lead over the world champion Oakland A's in the AL West.

HALLIBURTON IS LOOKING FOR THE UNCOMMON INDIVIDUAL— COULD IT BE YOU?

Halliburton Services is looking for ambitious individuals with these qualifications: 21 or over, in good health, high school education or the equivalent, some mechanical aptitude and the desire to get ahead in life.

We are the world's largest oil field service organization and recently the demand for our services has come close to exceeding the supply.

So we've set up a training program lasting about eight months to train capable people to work as oil well cementers, one of the basic oil field services required by oil and gas producers. When you complete this training you are assigned to Halliburton locations either in the U.S. or foreign countries.

During the classroom training you receive excellent pay as well as all lodging, meals and transportation. After completing training and starting as a cementer, you'll get a salary increase and moving costs to your new location.

If you go abroad you'll also get living and family housing allowances and a differential pay increase. There are important tax advantages, too.

Our work is truly unusual. Every assignment is different. A cementer works outside with big, high-powered equipment. The responsibility is yours.

If you're interested, Halliburton Services representatives are interviewing from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at the Ramada Inn, Interstate 55 at U.S. 62, Sikeston, telephone (314) 471-4700. Appointments are not necessary and your family is welcome. Contact Felix Moody, Room 101, Ramada Inn.
We can arrange interviews at other hours, too.

Malden mayor to resign post

MALDEN — G. H. Anderson has announced plans to submit his resignation as mayor of Malden, effective May 1, for health reasons.

"The many problems of the city of Malden, especially the financial problems, are keeping me awake at night and constantly upset," he said. "I have no personal grievances against anyone, but feel that for the sake of my own personal health and for the sake of my family that I should step down."

Anderson, who has been blind for 18 years, was elected mayor in April 1973. He defeated the incumbent mayor, Sparrel Davis, by a margin of 675 to 616. He had served previously as mayor for three two- year terms from 1939-1945.

He took office last April when city affairs were at a low ebb and facing financial difficulties. Faced with rising costs just to provide the essential services required by a growing community, he stepped into a situation whereby the city had burdened itself even more through large financial commitments to two major projects — a recreational park and a community building.

Anderson, opposed to the two projects on the basis that the city could not afford them and that they should have been submitted to a vote of the people, attempted to have the community building project halted through veto of a proposal to borrow $85,000 to buy a site. He maintained and still maintains that it is illegal for a city to borrow more money than it can repay within a fiscal year. The City Council overrode his veto and the money was borrowed and the site purchased.

Since then, there has been a strained relationship between the council and the mayor. In addition, the financial problems of the city have mushroomed. The recreational park project has been delayed, because the city doesn't have additional funds to put into it. The community building project hasn't gotten off the ground, inasmuch as the city must pay off the indebtedness against the building site and obtain a clear title to the property before the federal government will release its portion of the funds.

Now, the council is proposing a one- cent sales tax to help alleviate the financial crisis in order to be able to complete the two projects and be able to continue the services required of a community.

Anderson is opposed to the sales tax on the basis that it is an added burden to local merchants, some of whom are having difficulty just staying in business, and to the general public. He feels that without the financial burden of paying off the indebtedness for the proposed community building that the city can continue to operate successfully with the additional funds they are receiving from federal revenue sharing and from profits from the operation of the municipally owned electric plant.

Public opinion appears to be very much divided on the merits of the recreational park, the community building and the proposed one- cent sales tax.

Upon Anderson's resignation, Phil Santie, president pro tem of the City Council, will become acting mayor. He will serve in that capacity until a special election can be held and a new mayor elected to serve out the balance of Anderson's four year term.

A special election must be called within 30 days. Official notice of the election must be published and ample time given for candidates to file.

What's the law?

The case of the embarrassed M.D.

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Dr. Smyth was an outstanding surgeon who took great pride in both his medical and social operations. Consequently, when he rented the grand ballroom of a grand hotel in which to host a magnificent party for his fellow physicians and surgeons, he didn't spare the purse. At the end of the party, however, he didn't spare the aspirins when he learned that his guests had to shell out 15 cents a piece to recover their coats and hats from the cloak room. Terribly embarrassed by the incident, Dr. Smyth gulped aspirins all the way to the court house when he sued the hotel for having humiliated him.

"When I hired the ballroom," he complained in court, "the price included all gratuities. By compelling my guests to cough up 15 cents, the hotel gave them the impression that I was too cheap to pick up their cloakroom tips."

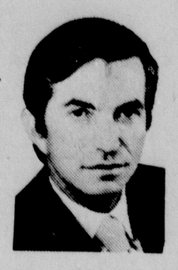
"The doctor's making a tumor out of a wart," responded the hotel manager. "The mistake was minor and of no significance. Everyone knows he blew a bundle on the party and his generosity is no secret. He's got no reason to be embarrassed."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require the hotel to pay Dr. Smyth for his embarrassment?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that considering that Dr. Smyth's guests were all outstanding physicians and surgeons accustomed to dealing with patients of considerable wealth, it was too farfetched to assume that his guests would regard him any less the perfect host because of an operation involving so microscopic a sum as 15 cents.

(Based upon a 1955 Pennsylvania Supreme Court Decision)

The Department of State was tunes, in vogue at the time of presented several years ago the American Revolution, range with a six-foot clock made in from such titles as "Shady 1776 at Norwich, Conn., that Bowers" and "Lass of Patty's chimes six different tunes. The Mill" to a minuet by Handel.



DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Hysterectomy won't hurt sex activity

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like your opinion on a woman who has to have a hysterectomy for health reasons. So many of my friends say a woman who has had one isn't any good sexually. Would you please comment on this? It would put many of these women's minds at ease. Also, is the woman any different when she has the operation? Are other women better partners who have not had the operation? Also, do men prefer women who have not had one?

DEAR READER — I get a lot of letters asking about this. The truth is the uterus has almost nothing to do with sexual activity. It is connected to the top end of the birth canal and provides no important feeling for the woman. It has no effects at all on the man. Most men wouldn't even know a woman had had such an operation.

So the answer to the rest of your questions should be obvious. Women are just as good a partner, or even better, after surgery. Why better? Since they no longer need fear pregnancy, they often are more relaxed. For the same reason a man, if he knew, might prefer a woman who didn't have a uterus.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've just had surgery on my neck for hardening of the arteries. The blood could barely drip through. Can you help me with my diet so this won't recur?

Is it all diet that causes hardening of the arteries? It is a very expensive operation. I had two on the neck and chest, so no more.

DEAR READER — The same diet principles apply to preventing fatty deposits in the arteries in the neck as those for the brain and heart. The disease throughout the body is the same.

For additional information you may want to read the booklet on balanced diet that I have prepared. Send 50 cents to "Balanced Diet," in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

The best general recommendation is to limit calories to correct or prevent any excess body fat, maintain physical activity to help you do this. Limit fat, particularly saturated fat and cholesterol. I would suggest seeing to it that you get a third of your main dishes from poultry, a third from fish and a third from lean beef. The rest of your food should include, or be made from, nonfat fortified skim milk or the dry powder, vegetables, fruits and cereals. You should use polyunsaturated oils in cooking, such as safflower oil or corn oil. Broil or boil, bake or roast, but try to eliminate frying.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it safe to eat raw eggs? My family loves a refrigerator pie I make with three eggs in it, and the mixture is uncooked. A friend of my husband's developed a longstanding illness after eating a large number of raw eggs on a dare.

My girls have developed a dislike for their morning scrambled eggs, so I try to get some eggs in their diet, even if it's in the pie they like once in a while.

DEAR READER — No, I don't approve of eating raw eggs. It can be perfectly safe, but they are a common source of bacteria that cause a form of food poisoning.

Why are you so determined to force your family to eat eggs? They do not contain a single nutrient that can't be obtained from other foods. The yolk of the egg is the most common high-cholesterol food in our diet. The Inter-Society Commission on Heart Disease has suggested that the daily cholesterol intake should be limited to 300 milligrams a day. A single egg yolk often contains 250. A small amount of cholesterol, which you do need in your diet, is in meat and animal products.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

U.S. WHALING FLEET WAS THE LARGEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last American whalers were beached in 1972 after whaling was banned by the Department of Commerce. The three small ships with their bow-mounted harpoon guns were all that remained of what once had been the largest whaling fleet in the world.

The work of converting the second floor of the City Hall into a court room and offices is almost completed. Broom sticks have been placed through two sets of two by fours running horizontally north and south on either side of the room. There now remains only the making and hanging of the gates to finish the project. The west side of the building will be used by Miss Audrey Chaney for her Red Cross room and the east part consists of three offices, one unoccupied, one for Jos. W. Sonny to go solo in ABC fall show

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer-comedian Sonny Bono will be doing a solo act for ABC-TV next fall, while the network's durable "The FBI" series, now in its ninth season, won't return, ABC spokesmen say.

The network announced Wednesday 12 new shows for next fall and the cancellation of 10 current ones. It said Bono will star in an hour-long comedy-music show Sunday nights when the new TV season begins.

Bono and his wife, Cher, starred in the top-rated "Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour" on CBS for three seasons. When their marriage fell apart early this year, CBS reluctantly canceled their show.

In addition to "The FBI," the other programs canceled by ABC were five first-season series — "Chopper One," "Firehouse," "Toma," "Doc Elliott" and "The Cowboys" — and the veteran "Partridge Family," "Brady Bunch" and "Owen Marshall" series.

It also canceled "ABC Suspense Movie," a first-season assortment of made-for-TV movies that had no continuing characters or story lines.

The 12 new shows range from the new "Sonny Bono Comedy Revue" to "Kodiak," a 30-minute action-adventure series starring Clint Walker of the old "Cheyenne" series as an Alaskan state patrol officer.

Five of the programs in ABC's new lineup are half-hour comedies. The remaining five are hour-long series, of which three are about police or detectives, one about a newspaperman and the last about a Scandanavian family living in Minnesota in the late 1850s.

One of the police shows, "Get Christie Love," is television's first series about a black policewoman.

ABC's cancellations raised to 25 the number of current series the networks say won't be back next fall. CBS and NBC said last Friday they've cancelled a total of 15 programs now on the air.

Good Samaritan dies

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — On a winter night in 1973, state Trooper Kenyon Lassiter saved the life of Kenneth Ray Barton, 33, of Gantt, Ala. Barton's pickup truck had crashed, and he was near death with a severed artery.

Lassiter stopped the bleeding, radioed for an ambulance and sent Barton to a hospital in Opp, Ala., five miles away.

Last Friday night, Lassiter, 51, stopped a speeding car only a few miles from the site where Barton had been injured 14 months ago.

As the state trooper walked back to his patrol car after issuing a warning ticket, police said he was struck and killed by a pickup truck that swerved off the road on the wrong side. The driver of the truck didn't stop, police said.

Officers investigating the accident subsequently charged Kenneth Ray Barton, 33, of Gantt, Ala. — the same man whose life Lassiter had saved — with manslaughter.

Taylor-Burton 'split for good'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — So what else is new?

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, who once said they'd loved each other too much, say they're splitting up again — and this time they say it's for good.

Miss Taylor and Burton, whose stormy, lavish relationship began on the set of "Cleopatra" and often seemed to resemble their movie "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," announced through a spokesman Thursday they will seek a divorce. They said they had asked their attorney to end the 10-year marriage in the court at Berne, Switzerland, where they make their official home.

"Irreconcilable differences" were cited as grounds for divorce between Burton, 48, and Miss Taylor, 42, whose four previous marriages and acknowledged beauty combined with acting talent to take her to the top of her profession.

The final split had been rumored for months. But the relationship that hit headlines in 1963 when they took up housekeeping while still married to former spouses had survived other rocky times such as heavy drinking bouts and rumors of various extramarital affairs.

Liz once declared of Burton, "I love him enough to stand by him no matter what he might do." Last summer, when the couple announced they were separating, she said: "Maybe we loved each other too much." Burton agreed.

Following the separation, Miss Taylor was being squired about by a Los Angeles used car dealer. Before long Burton flew to California, the two embraced and then headed for Europe.

But in the last month reports of trouble pouring out of Oroville, Calif., where the Burtons recently filmed "The Klansmen," told of Liz' unhappiness with Burton's heavy drinking and an incident in which he presented two local women with jewelry.

Miss Taylor, long ago dubbed "the most beautiful woman in the world," left Oroville to appear on the Academy Award telecast April 2, and rumors of a split were denied. But she did not rejoin Burton, leaving instead for Hawaii to visit her brother Howard and her son Christopher Wilding on the island of Kaui.

The movie shooting ended and Burton, 48, flew to Santa Monica, Calif., where he entered a hospital last week for what was described as a bronchial condition. He talked by telephone with Miss Taylor, a spokesman said, but she did not rush to his bedside. He is still hospitalized.

If this is their final parting, it will have been Miss Taylor's fifth marriage and Burton's second. She divorced Eddie Fisher to marry him; he divorced his first wife Sybil.

They were married on March 15, 1964, in Montreal.

Butz urges taking advantage of prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz is advising consumers to take advantage of supermarket beef bargains at a time his own agency is paying higher prices for fancy hamburger.

The Agriculture Department is carrying out a $45 million ground beef purchase campaign designed to help boost cattle prices. While consumers have seen beef prices drop recently, USDA is paying more for its hamburger.

Butz was asked Thursday at a National Press Club appearance how he justified $45 million to help cattlemen when he advocated free enterprise for U.S. agriculture.

"It's just a good time to buy it," Butz said, adding that the hamburger is for distribution to schools next fall.

"It's a good deal for the government," he said.

At another point, Butz said consumers have seen most of this year's rise in food prices and noted that meat bargains are available now. "This is a good time to stock your freezers with beef," he said.

A short while later, USDA announced it had purchased an additional 1,848,000 pounds of high-quality ground beef at a cost of $1,929,000 at prices ranging between $1.02 and $1.05 per pound.

Regular hamburger currently is selling in supermarkets for 89 cents per pound or less. But the school orders were carefully tailored by SDA to come from choice and prime feedlot cattle.

In earlier hamburger purchases for the current school year—when specifications were not so choice—the department paid $43.4 million, for 45.4 million pounds or less than $1 per pound. The final order for 1973-74 school use was in February at 99 cents per pound.

The new round of purchases was announced March 26 at the White House as producers were complaining they were losing more than $100 per head on feedlot cattle.

When the first new ground beef order was announced April 11, the Department said the top price was 97.5 cents per pound. A week later, when another order was bought, prices ranged from slightly less than 99 cents to $1.05 per pound.

Adult education plan meets individual needs

JEFFERSON CITY — Whether it is helping a Missourian learn to read and write or preparing him for a job advancement, the adult basic education program is designed to meet the needs of the individual.

This fiscal year, about 13,000 Missourians are expected to broaden their educational experience through the ABE program, operated by the State Department of Education. The program is open to Missourians 16 years of age -- who are not in school -- and older.

Almost all of Missouri's ABE classes are operated in conjunction with the public schools, according to Elvin Long, director of the basic education program for the Department of Education.

"Instruction concentrates on five areas -- English, social studies, reading, science and mathematics," says Long. "Presently, there are 76 central locations in Missouri. Each has from one to as many as 50 or 60 classes."

There is no cost to the student for instruction or materials used in the classes. Also, a new ABE project is underway to extend more instructional opportunities to Missourians.

Approximately 20 learning centers are currently being developed throughout the state. The centers have a library- like setting where the students come in on their own time and use programmed materials, Long reports. The student can progress at his own rate by working with individualized materials.

However, if a student should need assistance with a lesson, a teacher or teacher's aide will be there, Long says. The centers will be open for long periods of time -- for instance, from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., six days a week -- to fit the student's hours.

"Another way the ABE program meets the needs of Missourians is by flexible class scheduling," Long says. "Classes can be scheduled during the day or at night and in various blocks of time. In urban areas, the program runs 12 months a year, and in rural areas, eight or nine months."

ABE classes average 10 to 15 persons, according to Long, because a teacher may have students who are illiterate, as well as students functioning on the eighth or ninth grade level. The program relies heavily on individualized materials for this same reason.

As much as possible, the student is encouraged to progress at his own rate and reach his established goals. But when assistance is needed, the teacher will provide it.

Long foresees no shortage of Missourians needing the ABE program.

"The 1970 census shows there are 1,446,397 persons in Missouri 16 years of age and older with less than a high school education. As long as Missourians drop out of school, the ABE program will be needed."

Lecture set May 4

"Who Is Baha'u'llah", the third in a series of public lectures presented by the district teaching committee of Baha'is of Missouri, will be presented by the Sounds of Light, a musical group, on May 4 at 8 p.m. in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room N. Main St.

"Baha'u'llah, in the judgment of many, possessed the tenderness of St. Francis, the courage of Socrates, the meekness of Moses, the sanctity of Confucius, the missionary vigor of Muhammad, the moral majesty of Isaiah, the compassion of Buddha and the saintliness of Jesus. Today, several millions of people throughout the world hail this person as the hope for world peace and the savior of all mankind."

This testimony was written in 1951 by Dr. David Rhys Williams, First Unitarian Church in Rochester, N. Y. The person about whom he wrote died in 1892 near the prison city of Acca in the Holy Land.

There is no admission charge.

Area church plans 150th year jubilee

JACKSON-- First Baptist Church of Jackson, representing the first Protestant church west of the Mississippi River, will observe its 150th jubilee year with a sesquicentennial celebration of a week- long program beginning Tuesday, and culminating May 5 with a dinner and pilgrimage to the site of Old Bethel Church.

Beginning Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., the service will begin with a greeting from the Jackson Ministerial Alliance. The Rev. Rex Henderson, who was pastor of the church here from 1957 to 1962, and is now pastor of Galloway Baptist Church in Springfield, will be the speaker.

On Wednesday evening, May 1, the Rev. Eugene Vickrey will bring the greetings. He is associate pastor of South Main Baptist Church in Houston, Tex. His father, John and brother, Charles, live in Jackson. The Rev. F. O. Baugh of Exchange Avenue Baptist Church in Oklahoma City, Okla. will be guest speaker. He was reared in Jackson, and a brother, Bob, and sister, Mrs. Ivan Craig, still live here.

On Thursday evening, greetings will be brought by the Rev. H. B. Colter and the Rev. G. D. Parrack. The Rev. Mr. Colter lives in Jackson at 219 N. Hope St. and served as pastor of the church from 1921 to 1923. After the pastorate he did much mission work in this area, serving many of the churches in Cape Girardeau, Perry and Stoddard counties.

The Rev. Mr. Parrack is the present superintendent of missions for Cape Girardeau Baptist Association and his home is in Cape Girardeau. He assists 26 churches when needed in this area and promotes missionary work and the establishment of new missions and churches.

The main speaker Thursday evening will be the Rev. H. A. Selves, who served the church as pastor from 1941 to 1948. The Rev. Mr. Selves is now retired after long service with the Sunday School Department for Missouri Baptists.

On Friday evening, the greetings will be by Mrs. William Tallent. A pageant on world missions will be presented by Mrs. Charles Ford and Miss Martha Knox. They gave many years of their lives to missionary work in Africa and Japan.

The speaker for Friday evening will be the Rev. Robert Taylor, pastor of First Baptist Church of Lebanon. His mother, Mrs. V. G. Taylor lives here. He is a brother to Mrs. Ford and a cousin to Miss Knox.

Sunday morning the Rev. W. Harry Hunt, present pastor of the church who has served since Jan. 1, 1963, will bring the greetings. The speaker will be Dr. Joe McDonald, who is a professor at University of Missouri-Rolla and also an ordained minister. He is a twin brother of Dr. E. F. McDonald of Jackson.

The church will hold a basket dinner at noon in the church's fellowship hall. Afterwards, a pilgrimage will be made to the site of the Old Bethel Baptist Church which was organized in 1806 while the state was a part of the Louisiana Purchase. Out of this church came nine charter members of First Baptist Church of Jackson. Old Bethel withstood the earthquake of 1811 and the hardships and tribulations of frontier America.

The Rev. Frank Caldwell will bring a brief message at the cemetery. No public road leads to this cemetery which is approximately one and one- half miles from Jackson off Highway 25. The Rev. Mr. Caldwell served as mission pastor at Neely's Mission which is now Shepherd Baptist Church for 17 years. The Rev. Claud Jenkins will bring greetings on Sunday evening. He served as interim pastor before the Rev. Mr. Hunt was called as pastor and also served as the associate pastor for two years since that time. The Rev. L. A. Greene will bring the final message Sunday night. He was pastor of the church from 1948 to 1956, and is now living in Houston, Tex.

The Rev. Mr. Hunt, present pastor, has served the church longer than any pastor since 1900. Great strides have been made to many areas during his pastorship, including a three-phase building program, a greatly increased weekly budget and numerous baptisms. During his ministry the membership increased from 890 to 1,300 as of July 31, 1973.

According to church history the Jackson church was organized on April 30, 1824. Jackson was not an arm of Old Bethel but petitioned for dismission to organize the church at Jackson and is the only church that came out of "Old Bethel" that is now in existence.

The first Sunday School of the Church was organized in October 1868. In 1890, history points out the first recorded instance of a "ladies sewing circle". It was not until November 1894 that a first record was interpreted to be a "young people's meeting".

The first church building in Jackson was a wooden church building which preceded the brick building of 1901 during the pastorship of the Rev. J. C. Willett. In 1906 the church celebrated its centennial year and the Missouri Baptist General Association erected a monument at the Old Bethel Church site.

The brick building of 1902 was destroyed by a cyclone which struck Jackson on March 11, 1923. The Rev. Mr. Colter was pastor at the time, and a new building program began immediately. The church was rebuilt and has since expanded over the years to its present size.

Special day set aside

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At the initiation of Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, a theologically sharp Oregonian who is regarded a possible choice for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination, many Americans have set aside a day to "confess our national sins and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

They've scheduled observances on Tuesday, April 30, of a National Day of Humilitation, Fasting and Prayer, as urged in a resolution introduced by Hatfield and adopted by the U.S. Senate.

Participation has been supported by the U.S. Catholic bishops administrative board, by several Protestant and ecumenical organizations and by many community groups. At least seven governors—in Colorado, Arizona, Idaho, Louisiana, Georgia, Nebraska and Alabama—have issued proclamations for the observance.

It could "result in a great spiritual awakening throughout our land," says Bill Bright, president of Campus Crusade for Christ, in material sent to 600,000 campus workers. "Prayers ... can turn the tide and change our nation."

Hatfield, 51, a biblically minded student of Abraham Lincoln and a critic of so-called "civil religion" that equates Americanism with God, says "we must turn in repentance from the sin that has scarred our national soul."

"Only a national confession of corporate guilt can save us from the worship of our own finite power ... (and) heal the wounds that presently afflict us."

A Baptist and two-time governor of his home state before being elected to the U.S. Senate in 1966, Hatfield is among few federal lawmakers (along with Sen. Harold Hughes, D.-Iowa) disposed to discuss issues in such explicitly religious terms.

107 youths prefer jail over ban

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Smiling and carrying their Bibles, 107 youthful evangelists have trooped off to jail, refusing to accept freedom if it means giving up their preaching even for a few days.

County Judge Raymond L. Simpson offered the defendants, all charged with loitering, released on their own recognizance Wednesday if they would promise to quit bothering people in area shopping centers.

Their attorney, Louis Hardin Jr. contended that such conditions would violate the constitutional rights of the defendants.

"All right, I will strike the conditions and deny any release on recognizance," the judge replied. He set $26 bond for each defendant and set arraignment for Monday.

Smiling as they went, the 35 young women and 72 young men marched to separate jails. Another 30 persons paid the bond and were freed.

"We don't try to get arrested," said Jerry Romprey, 32, a leader who was not jailed. He said the group, known as "Christ is the Answer," was founded two years ago in Milwaukee and has grown from 60 members to 240. All travel in a 44- vehicle caravan, usually staying in a city for about eight weeks.

He said the group frequents shopping centers because that's where they find people.

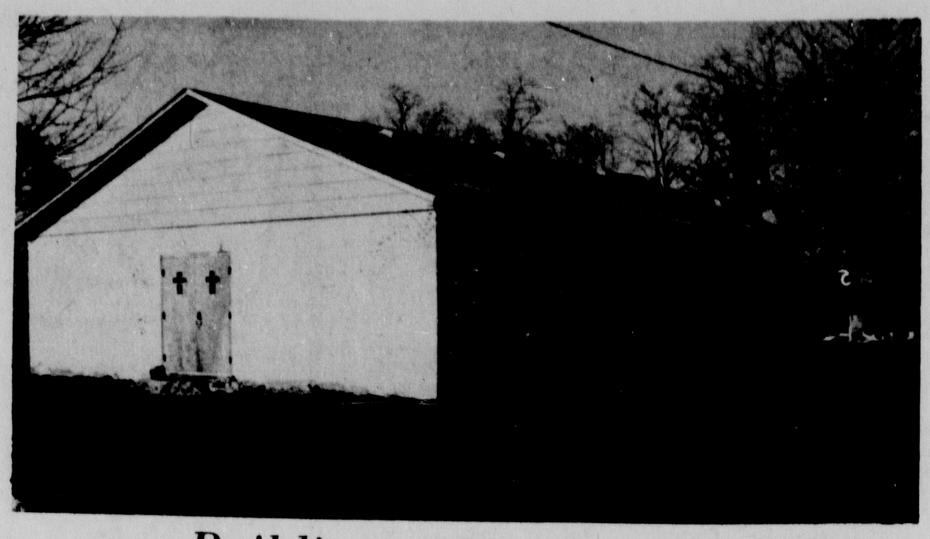
"The Lord told us to go into the world and preach the gospel wherever people are," he explained.

Police said the group arrived from Fort Lauderdale this week and, after getting permission to conduct missionary work in a shopping center, began grabbing people to get them to listen. Customers complained and merchants called police. The arrests were made Tuesday.

"We don't harass anybody," Romprey said. "The merchants are just very uptight about us talking about Jesus."

Singing group to be featured

DIEHLSTADT-- The Singing Faithmen of Cape Girardeau will be featured in a gospel singing program from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Diehlstadt General Baptist Church.



Building to be dedicated

A dedication service for the recently constructed General Baptist Church building on old South Kingshighway in New Madrid will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday. The first services in the new building were conducted last Dec. 16.

First Assembly to hear former pastor

The Rev. Loren Wooten of Springfield, former pastor of First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, will lead morning and evening services Sunday.

After leaving Sikeston, the Rev. Mr. Wooten pastored Berea Temple in St. Louis for almost seven years. He then went to Terre Haute, Ind., for three years.

Prior to accepting his position at general headquarters in Springfield as national evangelist field representative, the Rev. Mr. Wooten worked in evangelism in the United States and overseas. He conducted seminars and district councils in the Philippine Islands and Samoan Islands.

Rev. Loren Wooten

The Rev. Mr. Wooten now is liaison between evangelists and headquarters. There are possibly 300 full-time evangelists on the field, and he is their representative in Springfield.

He conducts evangelistic seminars, teaches in Vacation Bible Schools on evangelism, and is involved in promoting revival in the local churches.

Tietjen sees jobs for exiles

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Suspended Concordia President John Tietjen predicted graduating seniors, who walked out of Concordia Seminary in protest of his suspension, will be placed in the ministry of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Tietjen said in an Omaha interview Wednesday he thinks this decision will be made by the synod's Council of Presidents at a two- day meeting starting Monday in St. Louis.

The council consists of 40 district presidents, president of the synod and its five vice presidents.

Dedication service set for Sunday

NEW MADRID— A dedication service is planned Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the General Baptist Church on old South Kingshighway.

Guest speakers for the dedication program will be the Rev. Raymond Myrick of Sikeston, assisted by the Revs. Eddie Baker of Lilbourn, Ben F. Burks of Marson and Robert Burnes, the pastor, who said special singing will also be featured.

The church was initiated as a mission in April 1964 and was organized as a General Baptist Church in 1966. The first worship services in the new church building were conducted on Dec. 16, 1973.

The Rev. Mr. Burnes said he and the church members were deeply grateful to many persons of other faiths who have helped make the new church building possible by donating their time, labor, money, materials and prayers.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

132. The Troops Save Jonathan

On the day that Jonathan had led the rout of the Philistine garrison, Saul had pronounced a curse on any man who ate any food before evening. But Jonathan had not been present to hear the command, and had tasted honey during the fray. Only after he had tasted the honey did someone tell him of his father's edict.

But Jonathan said that his father had troubled the land, for they could have slain many more of their enemies if thy had refreshed themselves with food. After they had pursued the Philistines from Michmash to Aijalon, they were faint, and descended upon the cattle, and ate the raw, bloody meat. Then Saul commanded that they erect an altar. When God failed to respond to Saul's entreaties, he knew that someone had sinned, and that the sinner must be punished.

Then, by sacred lot, it was determined that Jonathan had sinned. Jonathan admitted that he had eaten a little honey, and Saul commanded that he must die for it. "And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not." (I Samuel 14:45)

Scouts make toys for center

Inflation may cause rate increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Despite the reduction in the incidence of traffic accidents in Missouri apparently due to the energy crisis, an insurance industry official said Tuesday insurance rate increases may be necessary because of inflation.

"The increases in cost ... may offset anticipated reduction in frequencies (of car accidents) so that not only may no rate reduction be warranted but increases in automobile insurance rates may in fact be needed to keep pace with inflationary pressures," said Lawrence E. Brown Jr. of the Insurance Services Office of Chicago.

Calling the inflationary spiral "the other crisis" for the insurance industry, Brown testified before State Insurance Supt. Edward G. Garmer Jr., members of the insurance division, and Rep. James P. Mulvaney, D-Jennings, at a hearing to review car insurance rates in light of the energy crisis.

Brown said it was too soon to tell if the drop in accident rates since the onslaught of the enery crisis would be great enough to compensate for inflationary increases in processing claims.

The insurance rate structure is too complex to lend itself to speculation and conjecture, Brown said, contending any rate adjustments should be made on the basis of insurance coverage information.

KENNE CURTIS

Max Pomeroy in
'The Magician'
Tuesdays, NBC
Television Network
(In Color, 7- 8 p.m.)

Up to now, Keene Curtis has considered himself stage struck rather than screen struck.

After a hitch in the Navy, Curtis returned to the University of Utah for his bachelor's degree and became interested in the university's dramatic program.

During the Utah Centennial Celebration, Orson Welles appeared at a local theatre and offered Curtis his first professional job-- playing Lennox in the screen version of "Macbeth."

He took the job in Hollywood, then returned to New York and the theatre. For 10 years he held several jobs behind the scenes and in 1960 he joined the Association of Producing Artists (APA), a theatre group, and began acting again, playing key roles in "The Cocktail Party," "Hamlet," "The Cherry Orchard," "School for Scandal" and many others. The APA died in 1969 and Curtis won parts in David Merrick's "Patriot For Me," and "The Rothschilds." For the latter, he won the 1971 Tony Award as best supporting actor in a musical.

"TIMEX PRESENTS LOVE FROM A TO Z"-- Charles Aznavour and Liza Minnelli star in this musical special which features songs composed by Aznavour and melodies by American tunesmiths.

"Yesterday When I Was Young," "Old Fashioned Way," "And I In My Chair" and "You've Let Yourself Go" are among the popular songs created by French composer- singer- actor Charles Aznavour which will be performed by him and award- winning singer- actress Liza Minnelli when they star in "Timex Presents Love From A to Z." The special will be colorcast on the NBC Television Network Tuesday, April 30 (9- 10 p.m. CDT).

Aznavour and Ms. Minnelli are the only performers. They offer a maximum of music– 16 songs, 10 written by Aznavour, the others by American composers-- and a minimum of talk from the stage of the Rainbow Theatre in London.

This is Aznavour's first starring special for American television. For Ms. Minnelli (Academy Award winner for her performance in "Cabaret"), the show marks a reunion with the man who introduced her to French audiences early in her career.

Afterwards, Aznavour presents a solo of his "Happy Anniversary." Then he offers a medley of songs about Paris by Americans: "April in Paris" (music by Vernon Duke, lyrics by Otto Harbach); "The Last Time I Saw Paris" (Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein ); "I Love Paris" (Cole Porter). Liza follows with Aznavour's "And I In My Chair." The two join for the final number, Aznavour's "There Is a Time."

Music director for the special is Marvin Hamlisch, winner of three Academy Awards this year ("TheWay We Were" — Best Song and Best Original Dramatic Score; "The Sting," Best Scoring: Adaptation). Director of photography is Freddie Young, also winner of three Academy Awards ("Dr. Zhivago," "Lawrence of Arabia," "Ryan's Daughter").

Burt Rosen is executive producer and Ernest D. Glucksman is producer. Mel Stuart is director; Donald Ross wrote the script. Ms. Minnelli's special lyrics are by Fred Ebb.

REDD FOXX
Fred Sanford in
'Sanford and Son'
Fridays, NBC
Television Network
(In Color, 7- 7:30 p.m.)

John Elroy Sanford, better known as Redd Foxx, possesses a commodity which has enabled him to weather the bad times as well as savor the good ones. It is a thing called laughter. As Redd puts it, "Laughter is soul food for the spirit."

After 37 years in show business, the comedian found a new audience with his series. Children discovered the lovable junk man, Fred Sanford. Prior to "Sanford," his appearances were limited to nightclubs where children were not permitted. Adult also have known him for his 50 albums, which have sold over 10 million copies in the last 17 years.

Foxx began his career at 13, when he ran away from home and joined a washboard band. The group won second prize in a contest - a week's engagement at a Newark, New Jersey, nightclub. When the group disbanded, Redd struck out on his own.

His first nightclub appearance was in Baltimore as a single, but from 1951 to 1956 he had an act with comedian Slappy White.

The late Dinah Washington persuaded Foxx to go to California. He was appearing in a Los Angeles nightclub when signed to his first recording contract. He later had his own club.

His first network television appearance was on NBC- TV's "Today" show with Hugh Downs in 1964. Downs had seen him in a club in San Francisco.

Since then Redd has appeared on virtually every talk show, and has made several appearances on the network's "The Flip Wilson Show" and "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson."

Before signing to star in "Sanford and Son," Redd appeared for a year and- a- half in the lounge of the Las Vegas Hilton. When the series is on hiatus, he goes on tour with his nightclub act. In December of 1972 he was a member of the troupe that went overseas with Bob Hope for Hope's annual Christmas tour to entertain the troops.

Frequently, Redd will drop unannounced into a local nightspot near his home and entertain. "I give thanks every day that I was granted the talent to make people laugh," says Foxx.

Redd still maintains a home in Las Vegas, but when "Sanford and Son" came along, he and his wife bought a home in the Toluca Lake area of North Hollywood, near the NBC Studios in Burbank, where the series is taped.

Bridge is shaping up

Highway department officials are hoping for completion of the Interstate 155 Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville by late 1976. All steel work will be completed this summer. The gap in the superstructure shown here is on the Tennessee side and should be closed six to eight weeks after work resumes in May or June.

Senate passes trespassing bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Senate approved today and returned to the House a proposed anti-trespassing law.

The bill, approved 19-12, contains an amendment saying property owners can't be held accountable for their actions in preventing trespassing on their property.

Sen. Edward Linehan, D-St. Louis, saying he would "tresspass" on the bill and try to kill it, said the clause could be interpreted to mean that a property owner could shoot a trespasser.

If the House accepts the amendment, the bill goes to the governor.

The bill applies to boats, planes, cars and buildings that are posted with no-trespassing signs and any property with a fence around it.

In a Thursday night session, the Senate approved a bill saying stores cannot deny credit to women.

The House had approved the bill but it was sent to a conference committee to correct technical flaws. The Senate accepted the conference report and the House was expected to follow suit.

The measure, "piggybacked" onto a Senate bill making changes in definitions in the retail sales credit law, was similar to one far down on the Senate calendar.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Sue Shear, D-Clayton, and Sne. Albert Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau.

It forbids denial of credit based on sex or marital status.

Debated but left without action was a bill eliminating the $500 exemption on used car trade-ins for collection of sales taxes.

Several senators objected because it would cost the state money and no estimate was provided.

The measure, put on the informal calendar for further study, would have this effect:

At present, if a person gets $400 on his car in buying one valued at $3,000, he pays sales taxes on the full $3,000 price. If he received $500 for his car, he would pay taxes only on the difference of $2,500. The same is true for trade-ins valued at more than $500.

Under the proposed change, he still would pay taxes on the difference regardless of how much his trade-in is worth. If he bought a car worth $3,000 and got $400 on his trade-in, he would pay taxes only on $2,600.

Earlier, the dispute between State Mental Health Director Harold Robb and the Missouri Senate was lessened as the chairman of the Mental Health Committee agreed to seek an emergency appropriation to partially compensate Robb for money losses he says will force him to dismiss employes.

Other amendments would exempt farm and domestic worker employers with payrolls of less than $2,500 a year and eliminate a committee of the legislature provided in the House bill to study workman's compensation and make recommendations for its improvement.

Psychologist appointed to test Buddy Williams

BENTON -- A psychologist was appointed in Circuit Court Thursday to examine the mental capacity of James "Buddy" Williams of Holland during a hearing on a motion to suppress evidence in connection with his trial on 1961 charges of slaying a young couple and criminal assault of the young woman.

A motion by the state to consolidate all three of the charges against Williams into one charge for his third trial June 13 and 14 was taken under advisement. Two earlier convictions have been overturned.

The defense opposed the motion and requested three separate trial dates.

The 12- year- old rape-murder case is being heard by 32nd Judicial Circuit Judge Stanley A. Grimm of Cape Girardeau, who was appointed following the disqualification of three previous circuit judges-- Marshall Craig of Sikeston, Rex Henson of Poplar Bluff and William Billings of Kennett- since Williams was granted a new trial.

Art Stephenson, Pemiscot County prosecuting attorney and Caruthersville attorney James A. Vickrey, the prosecutor at the time of the slayings, represented the state at Thursday's hearing.

In the two previous trials Williams first received a death sentence, then three life sentences. The third trial was granted by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1971.

Williams is charged with the Dec. 23, 1961 slaying of Miss Brenda Joyce Raines, 17, of Holland and her fiance, Frank Craig, 19, of Blytheville, Ark., and criminally assaulting Miss Raines.

The first trial was moved to Scott County on a change of venue and, on Oct. 2, 1962, a jury found Williams guilty of killing Miss Raines and sentenced him to death. However, because of an error in instructions to the jury, Williams was granted a second trial and received three life sentences after guilty pleas were entered on two charges of first- degree murder and one of criminal assault, Aug. 2, 1963.

In 1971, the Supreme Court granted Williams another trial on his petition that the guilty pleas entered during the second trial were not voluntary.

Called as witness for the defense during Thursday's hearing was former radio dispatcher Thomas Hooper Taylor of Caruthersville.

Taylor testified that he received the phone call at the sheriff's office the day the slayings were reported. Following the arrest, Taylor said Williams had been placed in his custody for a short time before he was taken into the interrogation room.

Mrs. Norma Jones, court reporter for the 32nd Judicial District, testified that she was the court reporter during the 1962 trial and identified the transcript as one she had typed.

Substructure work complete on bridge

All steel work on the Interstate 155 bridge over the Mississippi River near Caruthesville will be completed this summer, according to Lionel Murray, District 10 engineer for the State Highway Department.

Murray said he is still hoping the bridge can be completed by late 1976. He added the completion date depends on material shortages and the weather.

All of the substructure is completed, Murray said, and work on the last span of superstructure will resume in May or June when high water goes down.

The next step, he said, is letting of contracts for the concrete deck work.

The flood plain landfill washed out by high water last year has been repaired.

Other work to be done in Missouri includes completion of approaches and grading from the approaches to Route U and from Route U to Interstate 55.

All design work on the bridge has been finished, Murray said, and completion is now just "a matter of money and timing." By timing, he said he means the department wants all units of the construction from the bridge to the roads completed at the same time.

About 60 per cent of the bridge substructure is finished on the Interstate 57 bridge at Cairo, Ill., Murray said.

The steel superstructure is currently being fabricated, he added, and will later be shipped down the river from St. Louis for erection.

The I-57 bridge completion is expected in 1978.

Statutory rape case goes to Circuit Court

CHARLESTON — Michael Williams of Charleston, a former mathematics teacher at the junior high school, was bound over to Circuit Court Thursday following a preliminary hearing before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr. on a statutory rape charge.

Williams, who remains free under $2,500 bond, is charged with two counts of statutory rape involving a 14 - year - old Charleston girl, one of his former eighth grade students.

The girl and her mother were the only witnesses called by Pros. Atty. W. Clifton Banta Jr.

According to the girl's testimony, the first offense occurred Feb. 14 on the levee near Thompson Bend north of Charleston. She said she and Williams had talked earlier that day to plan where they could meet. She reportedly got into William's car about 3:30 p.m. at the corner of First and Cypress Streets in Charleston, and they drove to the levee, talked awhile and had sexual intercourse. She said the second incident occurred March 6 in the girl's home.

Under cross- examination, the girl testified she was in love with Williams and said she had been threatened by her father if she did not testify against Williams. The girl's mother testified she and her husband learned about the incident Feb. 14 when their daughter was late in coming home.

The girl reportedly arrived home about 8 p.m. Feb. 14 with her hair mussed, clothes in disarray and her mouth red and swollen. The mother said her daughter refused to tell them what had happened to her and that she (the mother) called their pastor, who came to their home and talked to the girl.

She told him what had occurred, but did not tell him who the person was, according to the mother, who said the learned the identity of the man from letters found in the girl's purse and composition notebook.

On cross- examination about whether the girl had been threatened by her father, the mother said her husband had said something to the girl but she refused to say what. She said at the time both she and her husband were in a highly emotional state and she could not remember all that went on.

Williams is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court May 14.

A preliminary hearing for Alma Lee Williams of Charleston, charged with first- degree murder in connection with the April 20 stabbing death of Miss Lenora Henderson of

Drainage tax to be cut

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that it is lowering the 1974 drainage tax by approximately 50 per cent.

According to Presiding Judge Les Lankford, the court decided it would be able to cut the maintenance tax because the federal government has appropriated funds to clean out drainage ditches.

The taxes are reduced as follows:

Drainage District No. 2, reduced from $2.50 to $1.50; Drainage District No. 4, previously $4, now $2; Drainage District No. 5, formerly $3.50, lowered to $2; Drainage District No. 6, reduced from $3.50 to $2; Drainage District, No. 10, reduced from $6 to $3; Drainage District No. 12, previously $3, now $1.50; Drainage District No. 14, reduced from 75 cents to 50 cents; Drainage District No. 15, lowered from $4 to $2 and Drainage District No. 18, cut from $3 to $1.50.

Lankford said the court is also reducing the Johnson grass levy from two cents to one cent per $100 valuation.

"The court is doing this because Johnson grass is under control in Scott County," he remarked.

New liquor by the drink law may affect Sikeston

Sikeston residents may soon be able to buy liquor by the drink as a result of a new state law signed this week by Gov. Christopher Bond.

The new law allows resorts to sell liquor by the drink. Any motel which has 40 rooms and a restaurant that earns more than 60 per cent of its profit on food is defined as a "resort."

Also, a restaurant alone, which has grossed $100,000 on food each year for the past two years can get a retail liquor by the drink license. "Resorts" may also apply for Sunday liquor by the drink license.

Under the old law, the term "resort" applied only to establishments located near a lake with 250 miles of shoreline.

State Liquor Control Supervisor Michael Garrett said he expects many motels to "leap" for licenses under the new law.

Garrett said Missouri will receive added revenue from the sale of liquor by the drink and Sunday licenses. Local governments will also reap sales benefits, he said.

The resort licenses cost $300 a year from the state and a county can also charge $300. In addition, if the resort is in a city, the city can charge another $450.

For Sunday liquor licenses, the state must be paid $200 a year. Counties may charge the same sum. Cities can charge $300.

Under the new law, local options either for or against liquor by the drink do not apply to qualified resorts.

It was the loss of the right to local option that caused State Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston, to vote against the measure.

Sikeston now will have no control over whether or not motels in town serve liquor, Cline said. He said he assumes the Holiday Inn and El Capri motels meet the resort requirements.

The law will not take effect until 90 days have elapsed. Cline said he has heard rumors that the law will be tested in court. He said a number of legislators are upset because of the loss of local option.

A similar bill was passed last year, but Bond vetoed it, saying that as written it would make resorts subject to local option if the area were annexed by a city which banned liquor by the drink. If that happened, a large resort might have to shutdown its bar, the governor's legislative researchers said.

Chamber will break ground

An official groundbreaking ceremony for the new Chamber of Commerce building will be held sometime next week, president Jim Smith told Chamber of Commerce board members Thursday.

The new office building will be built on airport property at the intersection of Airport and Industrial drives.

Smith said some preliminary site work is already under way.

The 1,000 square- foot building is being built by Ryan construction Co. at a cost of $24,913.

The meeting was the first for Bill Welborn, whose appointment as the new chamber manager was announced Thursday.

Welborn, 29, is currently an industrial development specialist for the Bootheel Economic Development Council.

He will begin his duties on May 6.

Householder posts bond

NEW MADRID — Marshal O. E. Householder posted $1,000 bond Wednesday on a felonious assault charge and is scheduled to appear Monday for arraignment before Magistrate Leo Hedgepeth.

The charge against Householder stems from an altercation early Sunday morning with Alderman Ras Jones outside Rosie's Colonial Restaurant and Tavern.

Householder allegedly fired a pistol toward Jones, and the bullet grazed Jones' right hand and also struck Householder in the right leg.

Householder, who returned to duty Thursday, was given notice Monday to appear May 3 before the Board of Aldermen to show cause why he should not be removed from office, following a special board meeting in which Mayor Robert A. Riley recommended that the marshal be removed from office.

The 61- year - old police officer is completing 20 years as city marshal and was re-elected to a new two-year term without opposition in the April 2 city election.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

That isn't the rustle of spring you hear — it's the crabgrass beginning to grow.

* * *

We are disappointed in our representative C. F. Cline on his vote for House Bill 1462 which will eliminate the unemployment compensation "waiting week." Representative Cline explained that the elimination of the waiting week could not cost any more money. The amount of time the unemployed are paid for would not change but would speed up the payment of the first unemployment check by one week.

After checking with the Employment Security Division, I found out that eliminating the waiting week could cost quite a bit to the employer. The Missouri Division of Employment Security acknowledged that the cost will approximate $4.5 million the first year.

When a person files for unemployment he will not receive the "first week's" check until he has been unemployed for nine consecutive weeks in a fiscal year. If he is unemployed for seven weeks, he can draw six weeks unemployment checks; if he is unemployed for eight weeks, he can draw seven weeks checks, up to nine weeks. After nine weeks, he will be eligible for the first "waiting week" check. If the unemployed person is hired for work before nine weeks, he will not receive the first "waiting week" check until he accumulates nine weeks unemployment in a fiscal year.

Elimination of the waiting week will not only be costly but will TAKE AWAY another incentive to stay employed. I've been asked why we have trouble getting industries in Sikeston, but if the bill becomes law we will have trouble in the State of Missouri. Industries will take a long look at the ADDED COST of unemployment due to the elimination of the waiting week.

Our lawmakers need to PROMOTE Missouri and what will help our state grow. Elimination of waiting week will NOT stimulate industry to choose Missouri over states that still have it. It is plain enough to see that if Missouri gets industry, say in particularly Sikeston, there will be more jobs for our unemployees. I can't but help wonder who will really benefit from the elimination of the "waiting week."

American motorists should know that a bill calling for a two- cent- a - gallon tax to help offset increases in the price of fuel has been filed in Congress.

It's not a bad idea. Maybe some state gas taxes ought to be reduced as well.

Practically everybody has been blaming the oil companies and their profits for the high price of gas. The fact is that federal and state taxes are roughly six times as large as oil company profits. Of every gallon sold here, the companies make about two cents, Uncle Sam gets four cents and the state tax is 7 cents.

WHAT'S THE HARM?

What's the harm in exposing our American college students to massive doses of leftist influences with no countering arguments?

How can it hurt to pay avowed Communist Angela Davis to speak to University of Missouri students?

Aren't our children much too intelligent to be swayed by this phony leftist propaganda? How could a few communist professors hurt? Why not have nearly all liberal professors?

Ask the Hearst family out in California.

The Hearsts now hear their daughter spouting the liberal-leftist violence of the SLA gang that kidnaped her and demanded millions of dollars in ransom.

The SLA demands for ransom have been well written, and investigators believe the hoodlum group includes some highly educationed leaders. (What's the harm of leftist influence in our educational system?)

Almost everyone wants to believe that Patricia Hearst was forced to make the tape recording in which she scorned her parents and vowed to join the SLA gang But reports of her association with liberal and leftist characters before her alleged abduction now cause many to wonder if she was in on the deal from the beginning.

Perhaps she had a gun held to her head when she made her hateful recordings, or maybe she was forced to take part in the recent bank robbery by her hoodlum captors. It is significant that many members of the SLA gang lived near and attended the University of California at Berkeley.

But the very existence of groups such as the SLA and other communist radicals should make Americans wonder about the influence of leftists in our colleges and universities.

But the very existence of groups such as the SLA and other communist radicals should make Americans wonder about the influence of leftists in our colleges and universities.

How long will the nation tolerate the constant "ripping off" of our society by radicals?

When Patricia Hearst was seized by the gang calling itself the SLA, the FBI agent in charge of the case said:

"I've never seen anything good come out of compromising with a bunch of hoodlums. I'm afraid that one demand may simply follow on another forever."

After the Hearsts gave away several million dollars in free food as ransom, the FBI agent's words appear to be prophetic.

But as every parent knows, logic and probabilities are of no use whatever to a family like the beleaguered Hearsts. The safety of their daughter took precedence over all other considerations.

Missourians and the nation suffer with the Hearsts in their ordeal.

Many of the poor people in whose name this dastardly crime supposedly was committed made it clear at the start that they would not take the food extorted from the Hearsts. The leader of a million member senior citizens' group asserted that the organization would never accept food under threat of violence.

But the promise of something for nothing drew many unprincipled people who willingly accepted the food brought with blood money. The first giveaway produced a riot. Many well dressed persons got out of their big cars and clamored to grab the estorted food.

The obvious purpose of this apparently well educated SLA group acting like a bunch of hoodlums was to gain public sympathy for themselves and to direct public hatred at the wealthy victims.

But they have failed miserably. Americans have watched in horror at the piteous sight of the love of parents being cruelly used against them.

And we still close our eyes to the constant anti- American and socialistic indoctrination by smug liberals and leftists going on each day in our nation's colleges and universities.

How many more SLA, SDS or other communist supported organizations and individuals are being created today?

What's the harm in allowing radical professors to go into prisons and tell the convicted criminals there that they are political prisoners?

When will university administrators and faculty members open their eyes to the end result of the radical ideas implanted into students by leftist professors?

Who is responsible for creating educational radicals who will help cause the violence, riots, bombings, kidnapings, murders and wars of tomorrow?

When will we ever learn?

WE NEED WATCHDOG COMMITTEE

The House Committee on Internal Security, a long- time bulwark against fascist and Communist subversion, is clearly threatened with extinction. While it has not been widely noticed, the Select Committee on Committees, chaired by Rep. Richard Bolling (D.-Mo.), has proposed the abolitionof the Internal Security Committee and the transfer of its jurisdiction, but not its responsibilities or staff, to the Government Operations Committee.

According to American Security Council's report, Bolling is trying for a full House vote in the next three weeks -- before opposition can be organized.

The anti- security lobby's efforts to abolish the House Internal Security Committee is led by the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation, which has for years advocated abolishment of HISC.

House Internal Security Committee Chairman Richard H. Ichord (D.-Mo.) testified before the Bolling Committee that "the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation was first established in 1960 under the name of the National Committee to Abolish HUAC for the purpose of leading and directing the campaign of the Communist Party U.S.A. to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities ... Today, it is a well- financed organization that maintains a full - time Washington lobbyist ... the Communist influence still prevails."

Congressman Bolling and three other members of his committee have consistently voted against funding HISC but have been overwhelmingly outvoted. For example, in March 1973, the vote was 289 to 101 to give the Internal Security Committee its small $475,000 budget.

So, in the name of streamlining the Congressional Committee structure, Bolling is now trying in a different way to abolish HISC. And, according to the word we get, Bolling has a good chance of succeeding with this ploy because he is doing it as an official committee action and in the name of efficiency of operation.

So, if the HISC is to be saved, we must act now -- to let our congressmen know we understand the real intent of the Bolling plan and that we oppose it.

Continuing the Internal Security Committee is more important now than ever ... because of the growing threat of terrorists in the U. S. demonstrated by the Symbionese Liberation Army's assassination of Dr. Marcus Foster, Oakland, Calif., school superintendent, and their policial kidnaping of Patricia Hearst. There are hundreds of interlocking terrorist organizations active in the free countries around the world but, until now, it has been a distant phenomenon which did not seem to threaten us inside the U. S.

A FLEET IN TIME

Part of the opposition to movement of petroleum from Alaska's North Slope to the warm water port of Valdez and thence to the South 48 rests on fear of tanker oil spills. As many as 30 large American-built, American - flag tankers would be required to transport the crude oil from Valdez to Seattle and California refineries. However, far from presenting a material hazard to the environment, as many imagine, these tankers would represent the ultimate in maritime technology. They would reflect the gathering momentum of the new U. S. shipbuilding program that began more than a year ago -- a program designed to rebuild the American Merchant Marine.

Tanker operators on whose shoulders would fall the responsibility of transporting Alaska's oil to the South 48 are keenly aware of the environmental obligation the task imposes upon them. A maritime industry leader, speaking to members of the Seattle Propeller Club, stressed that, "Both in the international forums of the United Nations and here at home the tanker industry is in the forefront of practical effective moves to assure safe and ecologically acceptable transport of critically- needed petroleum over the seas. It was the U. S. industry which supported updating of the international convention for the prevention of pollution of the seas by oil -- it was a leader in the agreement to regulate the maximum size of individual tanks on tankers and it has gone beyond all legal obligations to meet the cost of prompt and effective clean - up spills on the few occasions they have occurred."

The simple fact is that a rejuvenated merchant marine and tanker fleet is visible on the horizon at this very moment, and it is most needed. Such a tanker fleet would contribute strongly to the restoration of the U. S. as a leading maritime nation. We should be thankful if the new tanker fleet appears in time to move Alaska's oil to market and help reverse the growing deficit in domestically produced supplies of oil and gas required to meet expanding U. S. energy demand.

WIPE THE SLATE CLEAN

When the chips are down, the American family works just a bit harder, and maybe a bit longer, to attain its objectives.

We have just completed a year of crises in many areas. There are many challenges still facing us, but they can be solved through the application of one simple concept: work with confidence.

It is this ability to work which has helped us to be the breadbasket of the world. It has been the ability to discover and invent that has made the moon our newest frontier. It has been the ability to achieve, through the mass production, the conforts and conveniences of a modern society which has drastically reduced the number of our poor people.

It has been the desire to provide for our families to the best of our abilities that has triggered more inventions in this generation than the total of those developed since the world began.

As we look into 1974, let's be objective so that we may record new accomplishments together.

THE NEW FEDERAL BUDGET AND A BIGGER BUREAUCRACY

The greatest single component in the cost of government is payroll. The federal payroll will go up two billion dollars in a single year if the administration's fiscal year 1975 budget is approved as submitted to Congress.

The federal civilian payroll alone, exclusive of the U. S. Postal Service, now costs the taxpayer $32 billion per year and will rise to $34.2 billion if the administration's budget is approved. The total number of federal employees will rise from 1,874,417 in 1973 to 1,968,100 in 1975.

Nor is this by any means all of the payroll element in the cost of government. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), for example, which expects to spend the fantastic sum of $111 billion in fiscal year 1975, puts much of that money into private organizations which in turn use it to expand and boost their own payrolls. Other huge sums are handed over to the states under "matching funds" and "revenue sharing" programs, where most of the money goes to support payrolls there.

By the end of this year HEW expects to have a total payroll of 126,000, of which no less than 16,000 will be paid more than $20,000 per year. Under legislation recommended by the administration, some bureaucrats could be drawing no less than $44,700 a year of the taxpayer's money by 1976 with each one costing a lot more than his salary. PLAIN SPEAKING

WASHINGTON-- One of the most successful books of the year is "Plain Speaking," Merle Miller's interviews with Harry Truman when the former President was living in Independence, Mo. Mr. Truman was quite frank about his opinions of the people he knew when he was President.

It is quite possible that 20 years from now someone like Merle Miller might take his tape recorder to San Clemente and interview former President Nixon on his 81st birthday.

It could go something like this.

Q-- Mr. President, what do you consider was your greatest accomplishment when you were in the White House?

A-- I kept them from getting the tapes. They did everything they could but they never found them. Do you know where they were hidden?

Q-- No, sir.

A-- I had a pumpkin patch just behind the Rose Garden and I hid the tapes in the pumpkins. I got the idea from Alger Hiss. (laughter)

Q-- That was a great idea, Mr. President. Without the tapes, of course, they couldn't find any evidence to impeach you.

A-- You can say that again. To this day no one has been able to find them. You know the special prosecutor is still asking for them. Every week someone serves me a subpoena. But I've ignored them all. If I've said it once I've said it a hundred times, 22 years of Watergate is enough.

Q-- I noticed you were just served with a subpoena last week. What do you intend to do about it?

A-- James St. Clair is in the next room writing an answer to it.

Q-- Is he still working for you?

A-- Yup, he's getting a little deaf and his eyesight is not as good as it used to be, but he's still one heck of a lawyer. Anyone that can keep stringing along the House Judiciary Committee for two decades is my kind of man.

You see, the trick was never to say we wouldn't give them the tapes. The trick was to always say we were working on it, and we'd give them an answer in a few weeks. It's been going on since 1974 and here we are in 1994, and they still haven't go what they've asked for.

Q-- Next to keeping the House from getting the tapes, what do you consider your greatest accomplishment as President?

A-- Paying my back income taxes. I want to tell you that was some blow when they asked me for a half- million dollars. If I hadn't gone into the real estate business with Bebe Rebozo after I left the White House, I don't think I would ever have gotten even. But now that we've got the San Clemente Sun City for Senior Citizens and the Key Biscayne Singles Condominium Project, we're in fat city.

Q-- How would you assess the people who worked for you?

A-- They were the finest men I've ever known.

Naturally I was sorry to see so many of them go to jail. But when you're President of the United States you can't let personal emotions get involved in your decisions.

Q-- What did you think of Gerry Ford?

A-- I never trusted the man. He kept saying I should turn over all the evidence I had to the committee. You know something? I don't think he was as dumb as everyone said he was. He knew if I turned over the evidence he'd become President.

Q-- Mr. President, it's been 18 years now since you left office. Is there one thing you would have done differently?

A-- Yes. I would have advised George Allen of the Redskins to send Larry Brown off tackle, instead of having Billy Kilmer throw a pass to Charley Taylor in the Super Bowl.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Hoover Nixed Break- In Plan 'Because of Risk': Huston

WASHINGTON-- The secretive National Security Agency, which specializes in gathering foreign intelligence, once tried to get the late J. Edgar Hoover to break into foreign embassies to steal their spy codes.

This was too much for the intrepid old FBI director who vetoed the project, according to a top- secret summary, "because of risk."

The summary digests the testimony last year of Tom Charles Huston, a young White House aide, behind guarded doors of the Senate Armed Services Committee. The senators questioned Huston about his notorious plan, endorsed by President Nixon, to rout out radicals through housebreakings, wiretaps and intimidation.

Some of Hoover's top aides, testified Huston, had wanted him to use teen- age informers on college campuses. At first, Huston refused to employ anyone under 21. But "after the voting age was lowered to 18 by Congress," said Huston, "Hoover permitted FBI campus informers to be lowered to 18."

Hoover apparently felt anyone old enough to vote was old enough to spy.

Some of Hoover's aides were privately skeptical of the old crime fighter's grasp of revolutionary activities, Huston told the committee. He said the dissident FBI aides "believed Hoover didn't understand the difference between the Communists of the '30s and '40s and the present- day revolutionaries."

Huston testified that, before Hoover scotched the secret scheme, federal intelligence agencies plotted the housebreakings and other criminal acts without concern for "the exact lines to be drawn" or for "ther legality."

"There was never a discussion," he added, "as to limiting the activities to foreign inspired activities." In other words, relates the top- secret summary, Huston "assumed the group would deal with both foreign- inspired and purely domestic threats to national security."

A mysterious "NSID- 6" plan, mentioned in the summary, would have allowed federal agents to listen in on "communication of U. S. citizens using international facilities." This presumably means wiretaps would have been permitted on overseas phone calls.

There was talk, too, of mail covers to develop foreign intelligence in the United States. But Huston insisted this might "entail the identification of contacts of Soviet bloc intelligence sources." In other words, the mail cover might interfere with U. S. informants.

The idea of breaking into foreign embassies to steel their codes was proposed by the former National Security Agency boss, Adm. Noel Gaylor, who is now U. S. military commander in the Pacific.

"Huston said that NSA (Gaylor) wanted the FBI to conduct surreptitious entry for foreign cryptographic material," states the summary. "Hoover didn't because of risk."

FOOTNOTE: At the NSA, a spokesman declined comment. Huston, now practicing law in Indianapolis, also would not comment for the record.

Year of the Picket: See National Tidal Strike Wave Coming

WASHINGTON --Comes May 1, the rest of 1974 will be the year of the picket.

Billions of dollars worth of construction sites will be struck. One of the nation's few ultra specialists in this field has said that he wouldn't be surprised if the entire $133 billion (annual rate) construction industry were paralyzed, disemploying 3.5 million workers. Hospitals will be hit. City services will be strike -bound as in San Francisco and garbage -laden Cleveland. Strike fever will spread across the coal mines, the petro -chemical and oil plants, aerospace factories and even local steel mills.

By midnight April 30, some 1,500 of the 4,300 construction industry contracts reopening in 1974 will have expires. Already construction strikes are flaring in regions where they haven't for decades.

By May the major sections of the ladies' and men's garment industries will be embroiled in heavy wage bargaining.

It all may get out of control because virtually every insider believes the nation will be out from under wage and price controls and the Cost of Living Council's (COLC) power to ceiling rents, health and construction costs. Only control of petroleum prices and supplies are guaranteed under the Federal Energy Office, to which much of the COLC staff is shifting.

At the moment, as a jittery election -year Congress begins post -Easter sitting, only a handful of men on the Hill are fighting for continued wage -price controls which die automatically midnight April 30. Fighting hard for some kind of continued controls under what he calls the Cost of Living Act of 1974 is Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie. But as Maine goes, this time the rest of the country will not.

Seemingly everyone else is opposed to any semblance of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1973. It was the AFL —CIO's legislative director, Andy Biemiller, easily one of the two or three most powerful congressional lobbyists, who got on the phone recently and told key Congressmen the labor movement absolutely is opposed to any new controls, of any kind, of any hint, of any sort.

But there is the politicians's instinct for survival. When many Congressmen, as least those who didn't go world junketing, got home for Easter they found the hottest issue in town was not Watergate but inflation. Prices. Cost of living. Thus the dilemma's two horns. Can they go home to campaign eventually without having done anything about price controls? On the other hand, how can they vote for price controls without voting for wage controls? And if they do nothing but clamp down on prices, the producrers will sell fertilizer, for example, abroad making it scarce here at home and thus hotting up prices even faster.

The sad record shows that price controls in the past year simply opened the U.S. to heavy purchases by such nations as the Soviet Union which mines its own gold and can pay higher prices directly or through a broker for just what we need at home --agricultural products, fertilizer, chemicals, plastics, copper and minerals. This was only part of the "the whole thing."

But with prices higher, labor's rank and file will push its leaders harder. The latter respond to their constituencies. They'll push, too. Corporations and city and state governments will try to hold the line, then take strikes, crumble and then raise prices to match wages. How much more wages? Anywhere from 10 to 20 per cent a year.

For example, watch the militant bearded Leon Davis, leader of the national hospital workers union. He will begin moving in New York City in mid -May. He'll pull his famed Local 1199 members out of the city's major hospitals (and things always get rough) on or about July 1.

All hospital workers everywhere will be watching. The health "industry" costs will skyrocket. Hospital rooms will zoom from $150 to $212 a day semi -private and $200 a day private to $400 in a short time. Yes, daily.

So such presidential advisers as John Dunlop (who can have the chairmanship of the Council of Economic Advisers if he wishes) want a special health industry control bill. And one in construction as well. Otherwise, say they, there will be an "explosion."

Tuth the White House still has some game plans. President Nixon, according to one of his advisers, says, "There will be some cost of living controls hangover and it doesn't have to be done by legislation. Could be by presidential decrees and there could be a loud -voiced monitoring council."

And there always is the power to control allocation of fuels and materials. That's muscle. The White House may use it if Congress doesn't. The play of prices is the thing from now on. Price of food and price of labor, too. That's where the pickets come marching out.

Part I-Keeping your child safe

Old medicines, cleaning fluids are killers

By JUDY STRICKLIN

Is your medicine chest child-proof? If not, then maybe these safety tips can help alert you to the dangers of drugs and their all too often fatal results on children – especially children too young to know the dangers certain bottles contain.

Also, remember that materials such as cleaning fluids, weed killers, polishes and others are killers.

Little ones tend to taste and touch the things they encounter and that's how many of them are hurt ... and the statistics grow every year.

Help yourself and your child ... know your toxic materials and what to do if a child should inhale the fumes or swallow the liquids.

Be sure toxic products are properly packaged and labeled. Ask the pharmacist to carefully label the drug so that, if an emergency should occur, the doctor will know what antidote or other measures are necessary to help a child.

Begin by cleaning out the medicine chest and getting rid of partially used or outdated medicines. Keep the rest out of the reach of children. This means to keep the medicine cabinet locked and away from fixtures, such as bathtubs, etc., upon which a child could stand and reach the containers.

Check under cabinets and in sheds for cleaning fluids, paints, thinners, etc., which are also potential killers. Move them to safe places, preferably locked. With summer fast approaching, the sooner this is done, the better. You never know when a son or daughter of toddler size may decide "to explore."

Don't let children play with empty packages or bottles. They might also believe it is all right to handle the containers when full.

Never leave medications on bedtables, kitchen tables or other places, even if it is being taken regularly several times per day.

Read all prescriptions and be careful not to exceed the dosage prescribed.

Let children know that medicine is medicine and that it is not a game to take pills. Never coax them into taking medication by saying it is candy.

Store medicine in the package or bottle in which it comes. Never pour medicine into another container where it could be misjudged by either a child or adult. When poison of any kind is taken internally, time is the most important element in saving a life.

Keep poisons out of reach

Karen Evans, daughter of Carolyn Evans of Sikeston, shows how easily small children can get into cabinets, proving that dangerous cleaning fluids and other poisons should not be stored in unlocked areas accessible to children. (Daily Standard photo)

Cheerleading clinics again scheduled for area schools

The Missouri State High School Activities Association will again sponsor a series of six, one- day, cheerleader clinics for member schools June 10-15.

The schedule of sessions is as follows:

June 10 -- Independence, Truman High School; June 11 -- Macon High School; June 12-- Rolla High School; June 13 -- Springfield Parkview High School; June 14 -- Jackson High School; and June 15 -- Ladue, Horton Watkins High School.

The clinics will feature Greg Brimhall and Jeff Newman of the National Cheerleader Association as the instructors. Brimhall and Newman are both experienced instructors having taught at clinics the past three years all across the country. Newman is currently the head cheerleader at University of Texas in Austin, Tex., and Brimhall has held the same position at Utah State University in Provo, Utah. Both were also cheerleaders on the high school level.

The program for each session will include a lecture on the responsibilities of cheerleaders, their role in crowd control and crowd psychology, facets of effective cheerleading and methods of developing spectator interest and sportsmanship.

Time will also be devoted to the mass teaching of demonstrations of new stunts, special yells and chants, the teaching of when to cheer and when not to cheer and some novelty yells.

Last year 1,534 cheerleaders from across the state attended the six clinics. The largest clinic was at Springfield Parkview where 525 cheerleaders participated. Jack W. Miles, assistant secretary of the MSHSAA, serves as coordinator for the clinics in Missouri.

FARM WOMEN VOTE FOR JOBS

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's farm women appear to be joining their city sisters in wanting equality and the erasure of the "traditional role" of women.

According to a poll by Prairie Farmer, a leading rural magazine, farm women in Illinois and Indiana are two to one in favor of women taking any job they can handle. The ratio is three to one among women under 40 with some college training.

Better than three-quarters of the farm women polled felt their husbands should help out in the house at least occasionally. However, slightly less than three-quarters of the men actually did. Age was not a factor here. Young and old alike thought their husbands should pitch in.

In a separate poll, about one-third of the women questioned answered "no" when asked whether they would vote for a qualified female presidential candidate. Among farm women with some college, about one-quarter voted "no."

Ann Landers

Drunken parents exhaust children

Dear Ann Landers: Last night my husband and I were jarred out of a sound sleep by a ringing telephone at 2:00 a.m. It was his mother, drunk, as usual. She mumbled, "Your father got mad at me while we were having a few drinks at Harry's bar and he left me here. The S.O.B. took the car and I'm stuck with the bar bill and no way to get home. Come and get me."

Of course, my husband got out of bed, dressed and went over to Harry's and bailed out his drunken mother. This is the third time in three months she has pulled something like this.

We have sent them literature from the National Council on Alcoholism. We've begged them to go to AA. We've had our family doctor talk to them. Two years ago we sacrificed our vacation and sent them to a dry- out spa. Nothing works. They refuse to stick with any kind of counseling. "It's too much trouble."

If you can think of a way to get through to these two boozers, we'd be very grateful. Everything we've tried has added up to zero. We'll do anything you say.-- Exhausted Children

Dear Ex: If I knew of a magic formula to cure alcoholsim, I'd be the most valuable person in the world.

There are nine million alcoholics in the United States and several million more who masquerade under the fancy title of "social drinkers." Psychiatrists are not enthusiastic about taking on alcoholic patients because they are extremeley difficult to treat. Religion has not had much success with them either. Hospitalization is very costly and usually the boozer is back on the sauce after he returns to the real world and must cope with the problems that bug him.

Alcoholics Anonymous still has the best record for arresting alcoholism. But the alcoholic must WANT to join. If he is dragged there it will do no good. Nobody listens until he is ready. So just hang in there and hope your parents will become so sick of themselves they'll seek the help they so desperately need.

Dear Ann Landers: Speaking of smelling like a goat (as your column did recently), can you please tell us what to do about a person in our office who smells worse?

This enormous hulk doesn't take one bath a month. Every area she lumbers into reeks for half an hour after she leaves.

The woman has the disposition of a wounded elk and no friends. I feel sorry for her and would like to be pleasant, but I gag when I get within three feet of her. If we happen to get into the same elevator it ruins my day.

I've heard several sickening jokes about this person, but actually, it's not funny. It's tragic. Please suggest something.-- N.N.

Dear N.: This is not an uncommon problem; from your description, however, it's more severe than most of the complaints I get along these lines.

The woman is more than just "lazy." She's got a geranium in her cranium. People who have this problem often do not realize that they are asphyxiating their fellow men. The best approach is to gather your courage and speak to her in a compassionate and gentle manner. Explain that you are her friend and want to help. If this doesn't do it, she needs a psychiatrist and should be told.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious-- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Caring for your new baby

Adjusting to foods takes time

XII. After the First Weeks— Part 6

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of 18 articles prepared by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to describe some of the things about normal babies that commonly worry parents and what to do or not to do about them. The articles should answer many questions about what to expect of a new baby and give simple instructions about solving problems that most parents face during their baby's first year of life. This section of the series concerns the development of your child after the first few weeks when he is visibly growing every day, developing a few rudimentary language skills and becoming more mobile).

Feeding

Your baby doesn't really need any food except your breast milk or his formula until he is at least six months old. But you may want to get him used to different tastes, textures and temperatures of food before he is that old. Whenever you decide to start "solids" or spoon- foods, there are a few rules that will help you.

Start slowly. A few spoonfuls once or twice a day is plenty. His main nutrition still comes from milk, and the spoon- foods, water and juice are really just ways that you and he play with each other and teach each other.

Try just one new food at a time, and feed it every day for several days. Start with simple, pure foods. Use lamb, not meat dinner; rice cereal, not mixed cereal; applesauce, not fruit dessert. New foods will sometimes cause vomiting, diarrhea, or a skin rash.

By starting only one new food every four or five days and by using simple foods you will know which one is to blame. Once he has eaten a food for three or four days and it hasn't disagreed with him, you can use it any time in the future without worrying.

Don't spend much money on expensive baby foods. There is nothing special about foods that are sold as baby food except that they are finely strained. Regular adult applesauce, mashed potatoes, ground meat, etc., are just as good and often much less expensive, as are the "junior foods."

The ready- cooked infant cereals are much easier to prepare and they contain iron and vitamins that are not found in adult cereals.

Up to about six months, all your baby's needs may have been met by your nursing or by his formula. After six months, he should get part of his nourishment from other foods. Don't give him more than 25- 30 oz. of formula a day. Let him fill up on other foods. You can cut his milk down to 16 ounces a day if more seems to spoil his appetite for other foods or if he seems to prefer other foods.

The best way to be sure that his diet is nutritious is to be sure it contains a wide variety of foods. In any two-day period he should have several servings of food from each of the following groups:

Milk, cheese, cottage cheese, ice cream

Fruit and vegetables-- at least one serving of dark green vegetables

Meat, fish, poultry, eggs

Bread, crackers, cereal, rice, spaghetti

Butter, margarine, cream (whole or condensed milk)

Candy, cookies, sugar, sweet desserts and soft drinks are all right for occasional treats. But they have little food value, they are bad for his teeth and they spoil his appetite for more nutritious foods. Use them only occasionally or forget about them altogether.

You can tell if a food is not being digested properly if it comes through in his bowel movements. If it does, chop it finer or use other foods.

When you feed him table foods-- foods that you prepare for the entire family-- be sure they don't contain chunks of stringly material he can choke on (no peanuts or raisins; watch out for strings in celery and green beans).

Encourage him to feed himself "finger foods" such as crackers, bits of bread or toast, or bits of cheese or meat. He will enjoy using his fingers and you will be able to let him feed himself.

Let him try drinking from a cup by the time he is five or six months old. Just a little bit in the bottom of the cup at first, then increase the amount as he learns to drink more skillfully. Encourage him to hold the cup and the bottle as you feed him; the sooner he learns, the less you will have to help him later on.

Let him help you handle the spoon when you are feeding him. If you sit behind him as you feed him, he can hold onto the spoon or your hand and learn the movements he will use to feed himself. It may slow you down and make some mess, but he will learn to feed himself sooner.

By the time he is nine or 10 months old, he will be able to eat most of the things you cook for the rest of the family. You will still have to mash up some of the vegetables and cut the meat fine.

10-year old admits whipping Malden toddler

MALDEN — A 10 - year - old boy, who was left in charge of a group of children ranging in age from one- and- a- half - years old to nine years old, has acknowledged he whipped a Malden toddler who later died in a Memphis, Tenn., hospital with a brain concussion.

The youth's name was not revealed, however, Assistant Juvenile officer Melvin (Churn) Williams said Thursday the child is enrolled in special education classes in Malden and was hired to babysit with the five young children of two Malden Negro mothers while they went to Neelyville Sunday for about six hours.

Mrs. Vernice Jones, 24, mother of the young victim, Terry Dernell Jones, who would have been three in June, and Mrs. Catherine Reed, 26, reside together at 205 East Peck St. in Malden where the baby sustained the injuries which later proved to be fatal.

Williams said he was planning to meet with the young babysitter's father and aunt Thursday and hoped to talk with the two mothers later in the day. He could not be reached for comment today.

The young babysitter told Williams that he had whipped the baby with a belt and later put the baby in a tubful of cold water in order to revive him after the toddler fell during the spanking and hit his head on a door facing.

Williams' investigation has revealed that a 24 - year - old Negro man from Caruthersville was present in the house trailer at the time the youngster was whipping the baby but apparently did nothing to stop the youngster. Williams said the older man reportedly told the youngster to "quit it," but took no action to stop it.

Williams said no decision would be reached on how to handle the case until a full investigation is made and all persons involved are questioned. William's report will be forwarded to Judge Flake McHaney, who will make the decision.

NFL adopts tie breaker

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with increasing criticism that its game had become dull, the National Football League has struck back with the the most sweeping set of rule changes for professional football in 40 years.

"It's an exciting package," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, unveiling the changes that are designed to open up offenses and reduce the ever-increasing roll field goals have played in the pro game recently.

Besides introducing a 15-minute sudden death overtime period to settle ties, the NFL moved the goal posts to the end line, meaning that field goal kickers will have to boot those three-pointers 10 yards farther than they have been. Also, missed field goals will return the ball to the line of scrimmage or 20-yard line, whichever is farther from the goal line.

Other changes also were adopted to protect wide receivers from the downfield battering they have been exposed to recently, reducing the penalty for offensive holding, tripping and illegal use of hands from 15 yards to 10 yards, and making illegal the dangerous crack back blocks that have caused many injuries.

Not since 1933 when the league moved to allow forward passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage have such widespread alterations been made in the sport. That was the same year the goal posts were moved from the back of the end zone to the goal line to encourage field goal kicking.

"But in those days, guys weren't kicking 55-yard field goals," noted Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL.

Field goal kickers reacted predictably. They are less than thrilled with the changes.

"These changes are going to make the game even more conservative than it is now," said Miami's Garo Yepremian. "Moving the goal posts to the back of the end zone is one of the worst rules they could possibly have put in. Coaches will send in their punter instead of trying the long field goals and all we will have are punters booming the ball through the end zone."

Red Devils win 11th

MORLEY--- The Chaffee Red Devils won their 11th straight game of the season Thursday afternoon defeating the Scott Central Braves 8- 3.

Jay McGuire was the winning pitcher for the Red Devils with seven strike outs, allowing five walks and two hits. Gary Peet was given the loss for the Braves.

Chaffee opened up the game with two runs in the first inning and added another four in the second.

The Red Devils scored their fifth run in the top of the third. The Braves scored their first runs in the third inning crossing the plate twice.

Scott Central was the only team to score in the fourth. The fifth inning remained scoreless and Chaffee ended the afternoon with one run in the sixth.

David McConnell and Lindy Duncan recorded the only extra base hits for Chaffee. McConnell had a fifth inning double and a single in the first that accounted for two RBIs. Duncan knocked in two men in the second inning with a double and connected for another double in the third.

Gregory had the only extra base hit for the Braves with a double in the third.

Chaffee will put its perfect record on the line tomorrow as the Red Devils host the highly regarded Notre Dame Bulldogs.

Sr. Ruth roster

Sikeston's Senior Babe Ruth league will consist of four teams, not three as reported in Thursday's Daily Standard.

Commissioner Gerald Howard failed to leave a copy of the Optimist Club roster earlier this week, causing us to think that the league had been cut back to three teams.

Sikeston Senior Babe Ruth League --- OPTIMIST CLUB ROSTER — Rick Eisenback, Charles Miller, Bruce Lawrence, Mark Hesselrode, Russell Wissman, Bill Lewis, Glenn Alexander, Jerry Dement, Eddie Nunnelee, Jackie Jenkins, Chris Alberts, Doyle Elliott, David Horn, Bill Paxton, Lorenzo Harris. Manager Don Miller, Coach Tiny Davis.

Taylor belts pair of HR's

LILBOURN--- Tony Taylor belted two home runs to lead the Lilbourn Panthers to a 13- 11 win over the Charleston Blue Jays Thursday afternoon in extra innings.

Charleston took a 2- 1 lead in the first inning and each team added another run in the second frame of the eight inning ball game.

The Panthers gained the lead in the third scoring three runs to Charleston's one. The fourth inning was scoreless for both teams and Lilbourn was the only team to score in the fifth with one run.

Charleston scored one run in the top of the sixth only to have the Panthers cross the plate for two runs in the bottom half of that frame.

The Blue Jays tied the game in the seventh scoring three runs and holding the Panthers scoreless in that inning. Charleston took the lead in the top of the eighth with two runs but Lilbourn added four runs to their score for the win.

The Panther's Jimmy Reed was credited with the win and Bailey was charged with the loss for the Blue Jays.

Taylor connected for his home runs in the second eighth innings.

Billy Rodman punched another home run for the Panthers in the eighth with two men on base.

Smoot had the only extra base hit for the Blue Jays with a double.

This win set Lilbourn's record at the .500 mark with six wins and six losses.

Charleston fell below the .500 mark with five wins and six losses.

Aaron hits 718th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The only records Hank Aaron is breaking these days belong to ... Hank Aaron.

"I don't want to start on records again; that record business is over with," baseball's all-time home run king said after clouting No. 718 with a man on base in the seventh inning Thursday night, lifting the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

That was one of six games on a light schedule. Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 1-0, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Montreal Expos 8-2 and the New York Mets downed the San Diego Padres 5-2.

In the only American League contests, the Texas Rangers blanked the Boston Red Sox 4-0 and the Kansas City Royals beat the New York Yankees 61.

Despite Aaron's protests, there may be more records in sight. His game-winning homer was his 3,517th career hit and he has a shot at second-place Stan Musial's 3,630. It also was his 2,143rd run batted in, second only to Babe Ruth's — remember him? — 2,209.

Aaron's blast came on the first pitch from Jerry Reuss after Darrell Evans drew a leadoff walk. It was a 400-foot drive over the left field fence near the spot where he belted his record-breaking 715th homer on April 8.

Dodgers 1, Phillies 0

Unbeaten Tommy John, staked to a first-inning run, hurled a four-hitter and became the majors' first five-game winner and the first Los Angeles pitcher ever to win five games in the month of April.

Giants 8, Expos 2

Dave Kingman slammed a pair of two-run homers in support of Mike Caldwell's five-hitter, the first complete game by a San Francisco pitcher this year.

Mets 5, Padres 2

Felix Millan slapped a tiebreaking single in the ninth inning and John Milner delivered two insurance runs with a bases-loaded single. Winning pitcher Jerry Koosman — who allowed two unearned runs, scattered seven hits and struck out 11 — started the uprising with an infield hit off Bill Greif.

The victory snapped the Mets' three-game losing streak. They had dropped 10 of their previous 11 games.

Rangers 4, Red Sox 0

Jim Bibby fired a four-hitter and Dave Nelson, Alex Johnson and Jeff Burroughs broke up a tight pitching duel with runscoring singles in the fifth inning off Luis Tiant. By winning, the amazing Rangers opened a one-game lead over the world champion Oakland A's in the AL West.

Enoch Eby of Farrenburg killed this 18- pound gobbler at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday near New Madrid.

HALLIBURTON IS LOOKING FOR THE UNCOMMON INDIVIDUAL— COULD IT BE YOU?

Halliburton Services is looking for ambitious individuals with these qualifications: 21 or over, in good health, high school education or the equivalent, some mechanical aptitude and the desire to get ahead in life.

We are the world's largest oil field service organization and recently the demand for our services has come close to exceeding the supply.

So we've set up a training program lasting about eight months to train capable people to work as oil well cementers, one of the basic oil field services required by oil and gas producers. When you complete this training you are assigned to Halliburton locations either in the U.S. or foreign countries.

During the classroom training you receive excellent pay as well as all lodging, meals and transportation. After completing training and starting as a cementer, you'll get a salary increase and moving costs to your new location.

If you go abroad you'll also get living and family housing allowances and a differential pay increase. There are important tax advantages, too.

Our work is truly unusual. Every assignment is different. A cementer works outside with big, high-powered equipment. The responsibility is yours.

If you're interested, Halliburton Services representatives are interviewing from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at the Ramada Inn, Interstate 55 at U.S. 62, Sikeston, telephone (314) 471-4700. Appointments are not necessary and your family is welcome. Contact Felix Moody, Room 101, Ramada Inn.
We can arrange interviews at other hours, too.

Malden mayor to resign post

MALDEN — G. H. Anderson has announced plans to submit his resignation as mayor of Malden, effective May 1, for health reasons.

"The many problems of the city of Malden, especially the financial problems, are keeping me awake at night and constantly upset," he said. "I have no personal grievances against anyone, but feel that for the sake of my own personal health and for the sake of my family that I should step down."

Anderson, who has been blind for 18 years, was elected mayor in April 1973. He defeated the incumbent mayor, Sparrel Davis, by a margin of 675 to 616. He had served previously as mayor for three two- year terms from 1939-1945.

He took office last April when city affairs were at a low ebb and facing financial difficulties. Faced with rising costs just to provide the essential services required by a growing community, he stepped into a situation whereby the city had burdened itself even more through large financial commitments to two major projects — a recreational park and a community building.

Anderson, opposed to the two projects on the basis that the city could not afford them and that they should have been submitted to a vote of the people, attempted to have the community building project halted through veto of a proposal to borrow $85,000 to buy a site. He maintained and still maintains that it is illegal for a city to borrow more money than it can repay within a fiscal year. The City Council overrode his veto and the money was borrowed and the site purchased.

Since then, there has been a strained relationship between the council and the mayor. In addition, the financial problems of the city have mushroomed. The recreational park project has been delayed, because the city doesn't have additional funds to put into it. The community building project hasn't gotten off the ground, inasmuch as the city must pay off the indebtedness against the building site and obtain a clear title to the property before the federal government will release its portion of the funds.

Now, the council is proposing a one- cent sales tax to help alleviate the financial crisis in order to be able to complete the two projects and be able to continue the services required of a community.

Anderson is opposed to the sales tax on the basis that it is an added burden to local merchants, some of whom are having difficulty just staying in business, and to the general public. He feels that without the financial burden of paying off the indebtedness for the proposed community building that the city can continue to operate successfully with the additional funds they are receiving from federal revenue sharing and from profits from the operation of the municipally owned electric plant.

Public opinion appears to be very much divided on the merits of the recreational park, the community building and the proposed one- cent sales tax.

Upon Anderson's resignation, Phil Santie, president pro tem of the City Council, will become acting mayor. He will serve in that capacity until a special election can be held and a new mayor elected to serve out the balance of Anderson's four year term.

A special election must be called within 30 days. Official notice of the election must be published and ample time given for candidates to file.

What's the law?

The case of the embarrassed M.D.

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Dr. Smyth was an outstanding surgeon who took great pride in both his medical and social operations. Consequently, when he rented the grand ballroom of a grand hotel in which to host a magnificent party for his fellow physicians and surgeons, he didn't spare the purse. At the end of the party, however, he didn't spare the aspirins when he learned that his guests had to shell out 15 cents a piece to recover their coats and hats from the cloak room. Terribly embarrassed by the incident, Dr. Smyth gulped aspirins all the way to the court house when he sued the hotel for having humiliated him.

"When I hired the ballroom," he complained in court, "the price included all gratuities. By compelling my guests to cough up 15 cents, the hotel gave them the impression that I was too cheap to pick up their cloakroom tips."

"The doctor's making a tumor out of a wart," responded the hotel manager. "The mistake was minor and of no significance. Everyone knows he blew a bundle on the party and his generosity is no secret. He's got no reason to be embarrassed."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require the hotel to pay Dr. Smyth for his embarrassment?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that considering that Dr. Smyth's guests were all outstanding physicians and surgeons accustomed to dealing with patients of considerable wealth, it was too farfetched to assume that his guests would regard him any less the perfect host because of an operation involving so microscopic a sum as 15 cents.

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Hysterectomy won't hurt sex activity

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like your opinion on a woman who has to have a hysterectomy for health reasons. So many of my friends say a woman who has had one isn't any good sexually. Would you please comment on this? It would put many of these women's minds at ease. Also, is the woman any different when she has the operation? Are other women better partners who have not had the operation? Also, do men prefer women who have not had one?

DEAR READER — I get a lot of letters asking about this. The truth is the uterus has almost nothing to do with sexual activity. It is connected to the top end of the birth canal and provides no important feeling for the woman. It has no effects at all on the man. Most men wouldn't even know a woman had had such an operation.

So the answer to the rest of your questions should be obvious. Women are just as good a partner, or even better, after surgery. Why better? Since they no longer need fear pregnancy, they often are more relaxed. For the same reason a man, if he knew, might prefer a woman who didn't have a uterus.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've just had surgery on my neck for hardening of the arteries. The blood could barely drip through. Can you help me with my diet so this won't recur?

Is it all diet that causes hardening of the arteries? It is a very expensive operation. I had two on the neck and chest, so no more.

DEAR READER — The same diet principles apply to preventing fatty deposits in the arteries in the neck as those for the brain and heart. The disease throughout the body is the same.

For additional information you may want to read the booklet on balanced diet that I have prepared. Send 50 cents to "Balanced Diet," in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

The best general recommendation is to limit calories to correct or prevent any excess body fat, maintain physical activity to help you do this. Limit fat, particularly saturated fat and cholesterol. I would suggest seeing to it that you get a third of your main dishes from poultry, a third from fish and a third from lean beef. The rest of your food should include, or be made from, nonfat fortified skim milk or the dry powder, vegetables, fruits and cereals. You should use polyunsaturated oils in cooking, such as safflower oil or corn oil. Broil or boil, bake or roast, but try to eliminate frying.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it safe to eat raw eggs? My family loves a refrigerator pie I make with three eggs in it, and the mixture is uncooked. A friend of my husband's developed a longstanding illness after eating a large number of raw eggs on a dare.

My girls have developed a dislike for their morning scrambled eggs, so I try to get some eggs in their diet, even if it's in the pie they like once in a while.

DEAR READER — No, I don't approve of eating raw eggs. It can be perfectly safe, but they are a common source of bacteria that cause a form of food poisoning.

Why are you so determined to force your family to eat eggs? They do not contain a single nutrient that can't be obtained from other foods. The yolk of the egg is the most common high-cholesterol food in our diet. The Inter-Society Commission on Heart Disease has suggested that the daily cholesterol intake should be limited to 300 milligrams a day. A single egg yolk often contains 250. A small amount of cholesterol, which you do need in your diet, is in meat and animal products.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

U.S. WHALING FLEET WAS THE LARGEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last American whalers were beached in 1972 after whaling was banned by the Department of Commerce. The three small ships with their bow-mounted harpoon guns were all that remained of what once had been the largest whaling fleet in the world.

The work of converting the second floor of the City Hall into a court room and offices is almost completed. Broom sticks have been placed through two sets of two by fours running horizontally north and south on either side of the room. There now remains only the making and hanging of the gates to finish the project. The west side of the building will be used by Miss Audrey Chaney for her Red Cross room and the east part consists of three offices, one unoccupied, one for Jos. W. Myers for his justice of the peace court; and the third one for Robert Dempster, who will assume his duties as city attorney shortly after graduation from the school of law at the University of Missouri.

Sonny to go solo in ABC fall show

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer-comedian Sonny Bono will be doing a solo act for ABC-TV next fall, while the network's durable "The FBI" series, now in its ninth season, won't return, ABC spokesmen say.

The network announced Wednesday 12 new shows for next fall and the cancellation of 10 current ones. It said Bono will star in an hour-long comedy-music show Sunday nights when the new TV season begins.

Bono and his wife, Cher, starred in the top-rated "Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour" on CBS for three seasons. When their marriage fell apart early this year, CBS reluctantly canceled their show.

In addition to "The FBI," the other programs canceled by ABC were five first-season series — "Chopper One," "Firehouse," "Toma," "Doc Elliott" and "The Cowboys" — and the veteran "Partridge Family," "Brady Bunch" and "Owen Marshall" series.

It also canceled "ABC Suspense Movie," a first-season assortment of made-for-TV movies that had no continuing characters or story lines.

The 12 new shows range from the new "Sonny Bono Comedy Revue" to "Kodiak," a 30-minute action-adventure series starring Clint Walker of the old "Cheyenne" series as an Alaskan state patrol officer.

Five of the programs in ABC's new lineup are half-hour comedies. The remaining five are hour-long series, of which three are about police or detectives, one about a newspaperman and the last about a Scandanavian family living in Minnesota in the late 1850s.

One of the police shows, "Get Christie Love," is television's first series about a black policewoman.

ABC's cancellations raised to 25 the number of current series the networks say won't be back next fall. CBS and NBC said last Friday they've cancelled a total of 15 programs now on the air.

Good Samaritan dies

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — On a winter night in 1973, state Trooper Kenyon Lassiter saved the life of Kenneth Ray Barton, 33, of Gantt, Ala. Barton's pickup truck had crashed, and he was near death with a severed artery.

Lassiter stopped the bleeding, radioed for an ambulance and sent Barton to a hospital in Opp, Ala., five miles away.

Last Friday night, Lassiter, 51, stopped a speeding car only a few miles from the site where Barton had been injured 14 months ago.

As the state trooper walked back to his patrol car after issuing a warning ticket, police said he was struck and killed by a pickup truck that swerved off the road on the wrong side. The driver of the truck didn't stop, police said.

Officers investigating the accident subsequently charged Kenneth Ray Barton, 33, of Gantt, Ala. — the same man whose life Lassiter had saved — with manslaughter.

Taylor-Burton 'split for good'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — So what else is new?

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, who once said they'd loved each other too much, say they're splitting up again — and this time they say it's for good.

Miss Taylor and Burton, whose stormy, lavish relationship began on the set of "Cleopatra" and often seemed to resemble their movie "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," announced through a spokesman Thursday they will seek a divorce. They said they had asked their attorney to end the 10-year marriage in the court at Berne, Switzerland, where they make their official home.

"Irreconcilable differences" were cited as grounds for divorce between Burton, 48, and Miss Taylor, 42, whose four previous marriages and acknowledged beauty combined with acting talent to take her to the top of her profession.

The final split had been rumored for months. But the relationship that hit headlines in 1963 when they took up housekeeping while still married to former spouses had survived other rocky times such as heavy drinking bouts and rumors of various extramarital affairs.

Liz once declared of Burton, "I love him enough to stand by him no matter what he might do." Last summer, when the couple announced they were separating, she said: "Maybe we loved each other too much." Burton agreed.

Following the separation, Miss Taylor was being squired about by a Los Angeles used car dealer. Before long Burton flew to California, the two embraced and then headed for Europe.

But in the last month reports of trouble pouring out of Oroville, Calif., where the Burtons recently filmed "The Klansmen," told of Liz' unhappiness with Burton's heavy drinking and an incident in which he presented two local women with jewelry.

Miss Taylor, long ago dubbed "the most beautiful woman in the world," left Oroville to appear on the Academy Award telecast April 2, and rumors of a split were denied. But she did not rejoin Burton, leaving instead for Hawaii to visit her brother Howard and her son Christopher Wilding on the island of Kaui.

The movie shooting ended and Burton, 48, flew to Santa Monica, Calif., where he entered a hospital last week for what was described as a bronchial condition. He talked by telephone with Miss Taylor, a spokesman said, but she did not rush to his bedside. He is still hospitalized.

If this is their final parting, it will have been Miss Taylor's fifth marriage and Burton's second. She divorced Eddie Fisher to marry him; he divorced his first wife Sybil.

They were married on March 15, 1964, in Montreal.

Butz urges taking advantage of prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz is advising consumers to take advantage of supermarket beef bargains at a time his own agency is paying higher prices for fancy hamburger.

The Agriculture Department is carrying out a $45 million ground beef purchase campaign designed to help boost cattle prices. While consumers have seen beef prices drop recently, USDA is paying more for its hamburger.

Butz was asked Thursday at a National Press Club appearance how he justified $45 million to help cattlemen when he advocated free enterprise for U.S. agriculture.

"It's just a good time to buy it," Butz said, adding that the hamburger is for distribution to schools next fall.

"It's a good deal for the government," he said.

At another point, Butz said consumers have seen most of this year's rise in food prices and noted that meat bargains are available now. "This is a good time to stock your freezers with beef," he said.

A short while later, USDA announced it had purchased an additional 1,848,000 pounds of high-quality ground beef at a cost of $1,929,000 at prices ranging between $1.02 and $1.05 per pound.

Regular hamburger currently is selling in supermarkets for 89 cents per pound or less. But the school orders were carefully tailored by SDA to come from choice and prime feedlot cattle.

In earlier hamburger purchases for the current school year—when specifications were not so choice—the department paid $43.4 million, for 45.4 million pounds or less than $1 per pound. The final order for 1973-74 school use was in February at 99 cents per pound.

The new round of purchases was announced March 26 at the White House as producers were complaining they were losing more than $100 per head on feedlot cattle.

When the first new ground beef order was announced April 11, the Department said the top price was 97.5 cents per pound. A week later, when another order was bought, prices ranged from slightly less than 99 cents to $1.05 per pound.

Adult education plan meets individual needs

JEFFERSON CITY — Whether it is helping a Missourian learn to read and write or preparing him for a job advancement, the adult basic education program is designed to meet the needs of the individual.

This fiscal year, about 13,000 Missourians are expected to broaden their educational experience through the ABE program, operated by the State Department of Education. The program is open to Missourians 16 years of age -- who are not in school -- and older.

Almost all of Missouri's ABE classes are operated in conjunction with the public schools, according to Elvin Long, director of the basic education program for the Department of Education.

"Instruction concentrates on five areas -- English, social studies, reading, science and mathematics," says Long. "Presently, there are 76 central locations in Missouri. Each has from one to as many as 50 or 60 classes."

There is no cost to the student for instruction or materials used in the classes. Also, a new ABE project is underway to extend more instructional opportunities to Missourians.

Approximately 20 learning centers are currently being developed throughout the state. The centers have a library- like setting where the students come in on their own time and use programmed materials, Long reports. The student can progress at his own rate by working with individualized materials.

However, if a student should need assistance with a lesson, a teacher or teacher's aide will be there, Long says. The centers will be open for long periods of time -- for instance, from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., six days a week -- to fit the student's hours.

"Another way the ABE program meets the needs of Missourians is by flexible class scheduling," Long says. "Classes can be scheduled during the day or at night and in various blocks of time. In urban areas, the program runs 12 months a year, and in rural areas, eight or nine months."

ABE classes average 10 to 15 persons, according to Long, because a teacher may have students who are illiterate, as well as students functioning on the eighth or ninth grade level. The program relies heavily on individualized materials for this same reason.

As much as possible, the student is encouraged to progress at his own rate and reach his established goals. But when assistance is needed, the teacher will provide it.

Long foresees no shortage of Missourians needing the ABE program.

"The 1970 census shows there are 1,446,397 persons in Missouri 16 years of age and older with less than a high school education. As long as Missourians drop out of school, the ABE program will be needed."

The main speaker Thursday evening will be the Rev. H. A. Selves, who served the church as pastor from 1941 to 1948. The Rev. Mr. Selves is now retired after long service with the Sunday School Department for Missouri Baptists.

On Friday evening, the greetings will be by Mrs. William Tallent. A pageant on world missions will be presented by Mrs. Charles Ford and Miss Martha Knox. They gave many years of their lives to missionary work in Africa and Japan.

The speaker for Friday evening will be the Rev. Robert Taylor, pastor of First Baptist Church of Lebanon. His mother, Mrs. V. G. Taylor lives here. He is a brother to Mrs. Ford and a cousin to Miss Knox.

Sunday morning the Rev. W. Harry Hunt, present pastor of the church who has served since Jan. 1, 1963, will bring the greetings. The speaker will be Dr. Joe McDonald, who is a professor at University of Missouri-Rolla and also an ordained minister. He is a twin brother of Dr. E. F. McDonald of Jackson.

The church will hold a basket dinner at noon in the church's fellowship hall. Afterwards, a pilgrimage will be made to the site of the Old Bethel Baptist Church which was organized in 1806 while the state was a part of the Louisiana Purchase. Out of this church came nine charter members of First Baptist Church of Jackson. Old Bethel withstood the earthquake of 1811 and the hardships and tribulations of frontier America.

The Rev. Frank Caldwell will bring a brief message at the cemetery. No public road leads to this cemetery which is approximately one and one- half miles from Jackson off Highway 25. The Rev. Mr. Caldwell served as mission pastor at Neely's Mission which is now Shepherd Baptist Church for 17 years. The Rev. Claud Jenkins will bring greetings on Sunday evening. He served as interim pastor before the Rev. Mr. Hunt was called as pastor and also served as the associate pastor for two years since that time. The Rev. L. A. Greene will bring the final message Sunday night. He was pastor of the church from 1948 to 1956, and is now living in Houston, Tex.

The Rev. Mr. Hunt, present pastor, has served the church longer than any pastor since 1900. Great strides have been made to many areas during his pastorship, including a three-phase building program, a greatly increased weekly budget and numerous baptisms. During his ministry the membership increased from 890 to 1,300 as of July 31, 1973.

According to church history the Jackson church was organized on April 30, 1824. Jackson was not an arm of Old Bethel but petitioned for dismission to organize the church at Jackson and is the only church that came out of "Old Bethel" that is now in existence.

The first Sunday School of the Church was organized in October 1868. In 1890, history points out the first recorded instance of a "ladies sewing circle". It was not until November 1894 that a first record was interpreted to be a "young people's meeting".

The first church building in Jackson was a wooden church building which preceded the brick building of 1901 during the pastorship of the Rev. J. C. Willett. In 1906 the church celebrated its centennial year and the Missouri Baptist General Association erected a monument at the Old Bethel Church site.

The brick building of 1902 was destroyed by a cyclone which struck Jackson on March 11, 1923. The Rev. Mr. Colter was pastor at the time, and a new building program began immediately. The church was rebuilt and has since expanded over the years to its present size.

Special day set aside

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At the initiation of Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, a theologically sharp Oregonian who is regarded a possible choice for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination, many Americans have set aside a day to "confess our national sins and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

They've scheduled observances on Tuesday, April 30, of a National Day of Humilitation, Fasting and Prayer, as urged in a resolution introduced by Hatfield and adopted by the U.S. Senate.

Participation has been supported by the U.S. Catholic bishops administrative board, by several Protestant and ecumenical organizations and by many community groups. At least seven governors—in Colorado, Arizona, Idaho, Louisiana, Georgia, Nebraska and Alabama—have issued proclamations for the observance.

It could "result in a great spiritual awakening throughout our land," says Bill Bright, president of Campus Crusade for Christ, in material sent to 600,000 campus workers. "Prayers ... can turn the tide and change our nation."

Hatfield, 51, a biblically minded student of Abraham Lincoln and a critic of so-called "civil religion" that equates Americanism with God, says "we must turn in repentance from the sin that has scarred our national soul."

"Only a national confession of corporate guilt can save us from the worship of our own finite power ... (and) heal the wounds that presently afflict us."

A Baptist and two-time governor of his home state before being elected to the U.S. Senate in 1966, Hatfield is among few federal lawmakers (along with Sen. Harold Hughes, D.-Iowa) disposed to discuss issues in such explicitly religious terms.

107 youths prefer jail over ban

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Smiling and carrying their Bibles, 107 youthful evangelists have trooped off to jail, refusing to accept freedom if it means giving up their preaching even for a few days.

County Judge Raymond L. Simpson offered the defendants, all charged with loitering, released on their own recognizance Wednesday if they would promise to quit bothering people in area shopping centers.

Their attorney, Louis Hardin Jr. contended that such conditions would violate the constitutional rights of the defendants.

"All right, I will strike the conditions and deny any release on recognizance," the judge replied. He set $26 bond for each defendant and set arraignment for Monday.

Smiling as they went, the 35 young women and 72 young men marched to separate jails. Another 30 persons paid the bond and were freed.

"We don't try to get arrested," said Jerry Romprey, 32, a leader who was not jailed. He said the group, known as "Christ is the Answer," was founded two years ago in Milwaukee and has grown from 60 members to 240. All travel in a 44- vehicle caravan, usually staying in a city for about eight weeks.

He said the group frequents shopping centers because that's where they find people.

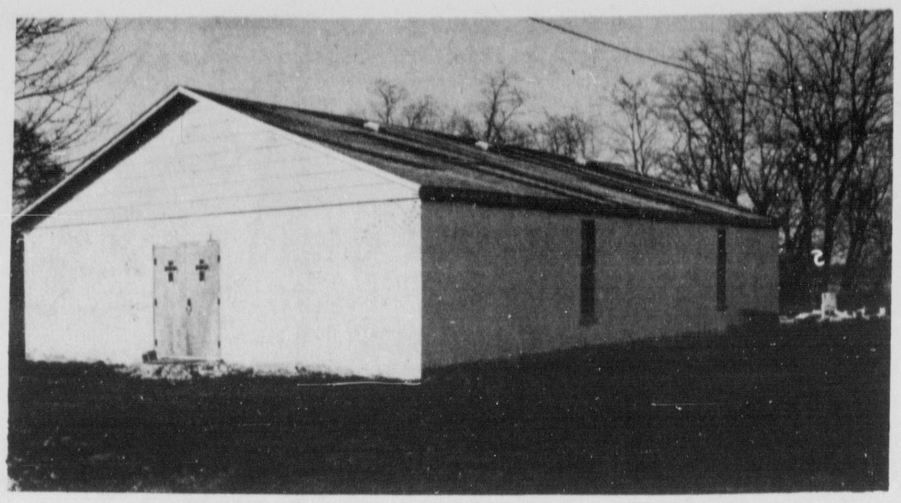
"The Lord told us to go into the world and preach the gospel wherever people are," he explained.

Police said the group arrived from Fort Lauderdale this week and, after getting permission to conduct missionary work in a shopping center, began grabbing people to get them to listen. Customers complained and merchants called police. The arrests were made Tuesday.

"We don't harass anybody," Romprey said. "The merchants are just very uptight about us talking about Jesus."

Singing group to be featured

DIEHLSTADT-- The Singing Faithmen of Cape Girardeau will be featured in a gospel singing program from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Diehlstadt General Baptist Church.



Building to be dedicated

A dedication service for the recently constructed General Baptist Church building on old South Kingshighway in New Madrid will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday. The first services in the new building were conducted last Dec. 16.

First Assembly to hear former pastor

The Rev. Loren Wooten of Springfield, former pastor of First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, will lead morning and evening services Sunday.

After leaving Sikeston, the Rev. Mr. Wooten pastored Berea Temple in St. Louis for almost seven years. He then went to Terre Haute, Ind., for three years.

Prior to accepting his position at general headquarters in Springfield as national evangelist field representative, the Rev. Mr. Wooten worked in evangelism in the United States and overseas. He conducted seminars and district councils in the Philippine Islands and Samoan Islands.

Rev. Loren Wooten

The Rev. Mr. Wooten now is liaison between evangelists and headquarters. There are possibly 300 full-time evangelists on the field, and he is their representative in Springfield.

He conducts evangelistic seminars, teaches in Vacation Bible Schools on evangelism, and is involved in promoting revival in the local churches.

Tietjen sees jobs for exiles

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Suspended Concordia President John Tietjen predicted graduating seniors, who walked out of Concordia Seminary in protest of his suspension, will be placed in the ministry of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Tietjen said in an Omaha interview Wednesday he thinks this decision will be made by the synod's Council of Presidents at a two- day meeting starting Monday in St. Louis.

The council consists of 40 district presidents, president of the synod and its five vice presidents.

Dedication service set for Sunday

NEW MADRID— A dedication service is planned Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the General Baptist Church on old South Kingshighway.

Guest speakers for the dedication program will be the Rev. Raymond Myrick of Sikeston, assisted by the Revs. Eddie Baker of Lilbourn, Ben F. Burks of Marson and Robert Burnes, the pastor, who said special singing will also be featured.

The church was initiated as a mission in April 1964 and was organized as a General Baptist Church in 1966. The first worship services in the new church building were conducted on Dec. 16, 1973.

The Rev. Mr. Burnes said he and the church members were deeply grateful to many persons of other faiths who have helped make the new church building possible by donating their time, labor, money, materials and prayers.

THE BIBLE

132. The Troops Save Jonathan

On the day that Jonathan had led the rout of the Philistine garrison, Saul had pronounced a curse on any man who ate any food before evening. But Jonathan had not been present to hear the command, and had tasted honey during the fray. Only after he had tasted the honey did someone tell him of his father's edict.

But Jonathan said that his father had troubled the land, for they could have slain many more of their enemies if thy had refreshed themselves with food. After they had pursued the Philistines from Michmash to Aijalon, they were faint, and descended upon the cattle, and ate the raw, bloody meat. Then Saul commanded that they erect an altar. When God failed to respond to Saul's entreaties, he knew that someone had sinned, and that the sinner must be punished.

Then, by sacred lot, it was determined that Jonathan had sinned. Jonathan admitted that he had eaten a little honey, and Saul commanded that he must die for it. "And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not." (I Samuel 14:45)

Although the land mass of Australia has existed for more than a billion years, it was the last habitable continent to be populated by civilized man. The first English colony was settled there in 1788.

Inflation may cause rate increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Despite the reduction in the incidence of traffic accidents in Missouri apparently due to the energy crisis, an insurance industry official said Tuesday insurance rate increases may be necessary because of inflation.

"The increases in cost ... may offset anticipated reduction in frequencies (of car accidents) so that not only may no rate reduction be warranted but increases in automobile insurance rates may in fact be needed to keep pace with inflationary pressures," said Lawrence E. Brown Jr. of the Insurance Services Office of Chicago.

Calling the inflationary spiral "the other crisis" for the insurance industry, Brown testified before State Insurance Supt. Edward G. Garmer Jr., members of the insurance division, and Rep. James P. Mulvaney, D-Jennings, at a hearing to review car insurance rates in light of the energy crisis.

Brown said it was too soon to tell if the drop in accident rates since the onslaught of the enery crisis would be great enough to compensate for inflationary increases in processing claims.

The insurance rate structure is too complex to lend itself to speculation and conjecture, Brown said, contending any rate adjustments should be made on the basis of insurance coverage information.

If you will save $100 a month with us for 15 years, we'll pay you $100 a month from then on and you'll never touch your principal.

When you read the chart, you can see that if you save a fixed monthly amount at First National Bank for 15 years, and you withdraw the same amount for the next 15 years, there's a nice surprise at the end of the period. You still have more money left than you put in.

That's because a First National Passbook Savings Account earns 5%, compounded quarterly. Over a 15- year period, it adds up.

KENNE CURTIS

Max Pomeroy in
'The Magician'
Tuesdays, NBC
Television Network
(In Color, 7- 8 p.m.)

Up to now, Keene Curtis has considered himself stage struck rather than screen struck.

After a hitch in the Navy, Curtis returned to the University of Utah for his bachelor's degree and became interested in the university's dramatic program.

During the Utah Centennial Celebration, Orson Welles appeared at a local theatre and offered Curtis his first professional job-- playing Lennox in the screen version of "Macbeth."

He took the job in Hollywood, then returned to New York and the theatre. For 10 years he held several jobs behind the scenes and in 1960 he joined the Association of Producing Artists (APA), a theatre group, and began acting again, playing key roles in "The Cocktail Party," "Hamlet," "The Cherry Orchard," "School for Scandal" and many others. The APA died in 1969 and Curtis won parts in David Merrick's "Patriot For Me," and "The Rothschilds." For the latter, he won the 1971 Tony Award as best supporting actor in a musical.

"TIMEX PRESENTS LOVE FROM A TO Z"-- Charles Aznavour and Liza Minnelli star in this musical special which features songs composed by Aznavour and melodies by American tunesmiths.

"Yesterday When I Was Young," "Old Fashioned Way," "And I In My Chair" and "You've Let Yourself Go" are among the popular songs created by French composer- singer- actor Charles Aznavour which will be performed by him and award- winning singer- actress Liza Minnelli when they star in "Timex Presents Love From A to Z." The special will be colorcast on the NBC Television Network Tuesday, April 30 (9- 10 p.m. CDT).

Aznavour and Ms. Minnelli are the only performers. They offer a maximum of music-- 16 songs, 10 written by Aznavour, the others by American composers-- and a minimum of talk from the stage of the Rainbow Theatre in London.

This is Aznavour's first starring special for American television. For Ms. Minnelli (Academy Award winner for her performance in "Cabaret"), the show marks a reunion with the man who introduced her to French audiences early in her career.

Afterwards, Aznavour presents a solo of his "Happy Anniversary." Then he offers a medley of songs about Paris by Americans: "April in Paris" (music by Vernon Duke, lyrics by Otto Harbach); "The Last Time I Saw Paris" (Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein ); "I Love Paris" (Cole Porter). Liza follows with Aznavour's "And I In My Chair." The two join for the final number, Aznavour's "There Is a Time."

Music director for the special is Marvin Hamlisch, winner of three Academy Awards this year ("TheWay We Were" — Best Song and Best Original Dramatic Score; "The Sting," Best Scoring: Adaptation). Director of photography is Freddie Young, also winner of three Academy Awards ("Dr. Zhivago," "Lawrence of Arabia," "Ryan's Daughter").

Burt Rosen is executive producer and Ernest D. Glucksman is producer. Mel Stuart is director; Donald Ross wrote the script. Ms. Minnelli's special lyrics are by Fred Ebb.

REDD FOXX
Fred Sanford in
'Sanford and Son'
Fridays, NBC
Television Network
(In Color, 7- 7:30 p.m.)

John Elroy Sanford, better known as Redd Foxx, possesses a commodity which has enabled him to weather the bad times as well as savor the good ones. It is a thing called laughter. As Redd puts it, "Laughter is soul food for the spirit."

After 37 years in show business, the comedian found a new audience with his series. Children discovered the lovable junk man, Fred Sanford. Prior to "Sanford," his appearances were limited to nightclubs where children were not permitted. Adult also have known him for his 50 albums, which have sold over 10 million copies in the last 17 years.

Foxx began his career at 13, when he ran away from home and joined a washboard band. The group won second prize in a contest - a week's engagement at a Newark, New Jersey, nightclub. When the group disbanded, Redd struck out on his own.

His first nightclub appearance was in Baltimore as a single, but from 1951 to 1956 he had an act with comedian Slappy White.

The late Dinah Washington persuaded Foxx to go to California. He was appearing in a Los Angeles nightclub when signed to his first recording contract. He later had his own club.

His first network television appearance was on NBC- TV's "Today" show with Hugh Downs in 1964. Downs had seen him in a club in San Francisco.

Since then Redd has appeared on virtually every talk show, and has made several appearances on the network's "The Flip Wilson Show" and "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson."

Before signing to star in "Sanford and Son," Redd appeared for a year and- a- half in the lounge of the Las Vegas Hilton. When the series is on hiatus, he goes on tour with his nightclub act. In December of 1972 he was a member of the troupe that went overseas with Bob Hope for Hope's annual Christmas tour to entertain the troops.

Frequently, Redd will drop unannounced into a local nightspot near his home and entertain. "I give thanks every day that I was granted the talent to make people laugh," says Foxx.

Redd still maintains a home in Las Vegas, but when "Sanford and Son" came along, he and his wife bought a home in the Toluca Lake area of North Hollywood, near the NBC Studios in Burbank, where the series is taped.
